Task 1.3 – Induction Plan

As part of the review process for the housing development, all aspects relating to the construction process are being checked and amended where necessary.
You have been asked by the Development Manager to review the site rules that are included in the Construction Phase Plan.

You are to produce a site induction plan in line with Construction (Design and Management) regulations that will cover the key points that relate to the following:

- Site rules required for the Construction processes that relate to the type of project set out in the brief
- Consideration of the order in which the rules are set out to provide for clear and safe working procedures

Provide a supporting statement to justify your plan, taking into consideration:

- Site Operatives
- Vehicles and Plant equipment
- Storage and site office buildings
- Waste Management
- Visitors to site
- Site security

Your supporting statement should be approximately 750 words.

1.1 Timing of assessment

You will have three hours to complete your induction plan and supporting statement.
