Technical Qualifications assessment

Built to meet industry needs

Assessment approach for Technicals

Changes to assessment approach

- 1 Reduce the content coverage in the exam so the exams cover fewer units and learning outcomes:
 - more focussed on critical knowledge that can not be assessed through a practical observation
 - earlier examination sitting
 - more time between examination series
 - better preparation of candidates by centres.
- 2 Provide an exam document for centres that helps with the preparation of candidates for the exam, to include:
 - content that will be sampled and weighting for LO/Unit
 - guidance of what is expected from command verbs used in exams question types used.
- 3 Reschedule exams series to Feb and May, or March and June.
- 4 Exam timetable will be published in July 2017.

Assessment approach for Technicals

- 5 Develop exemplar assignments to help with standardisation of marking.
- 6 Release all synoptic assignments and optional unit assessment in September each year.
- 7 Reduce the number of assessment objectives and provide more guidance for delivery of assignments.
- 8 Provide an approximation of the pass boundary in first year and then confirmed in subsequent years to provide transparency for centres.

Assessment objectives for Technicals

AO1 - Recall of knowledge.

AO2 - Understanding of concepts theories and processes.

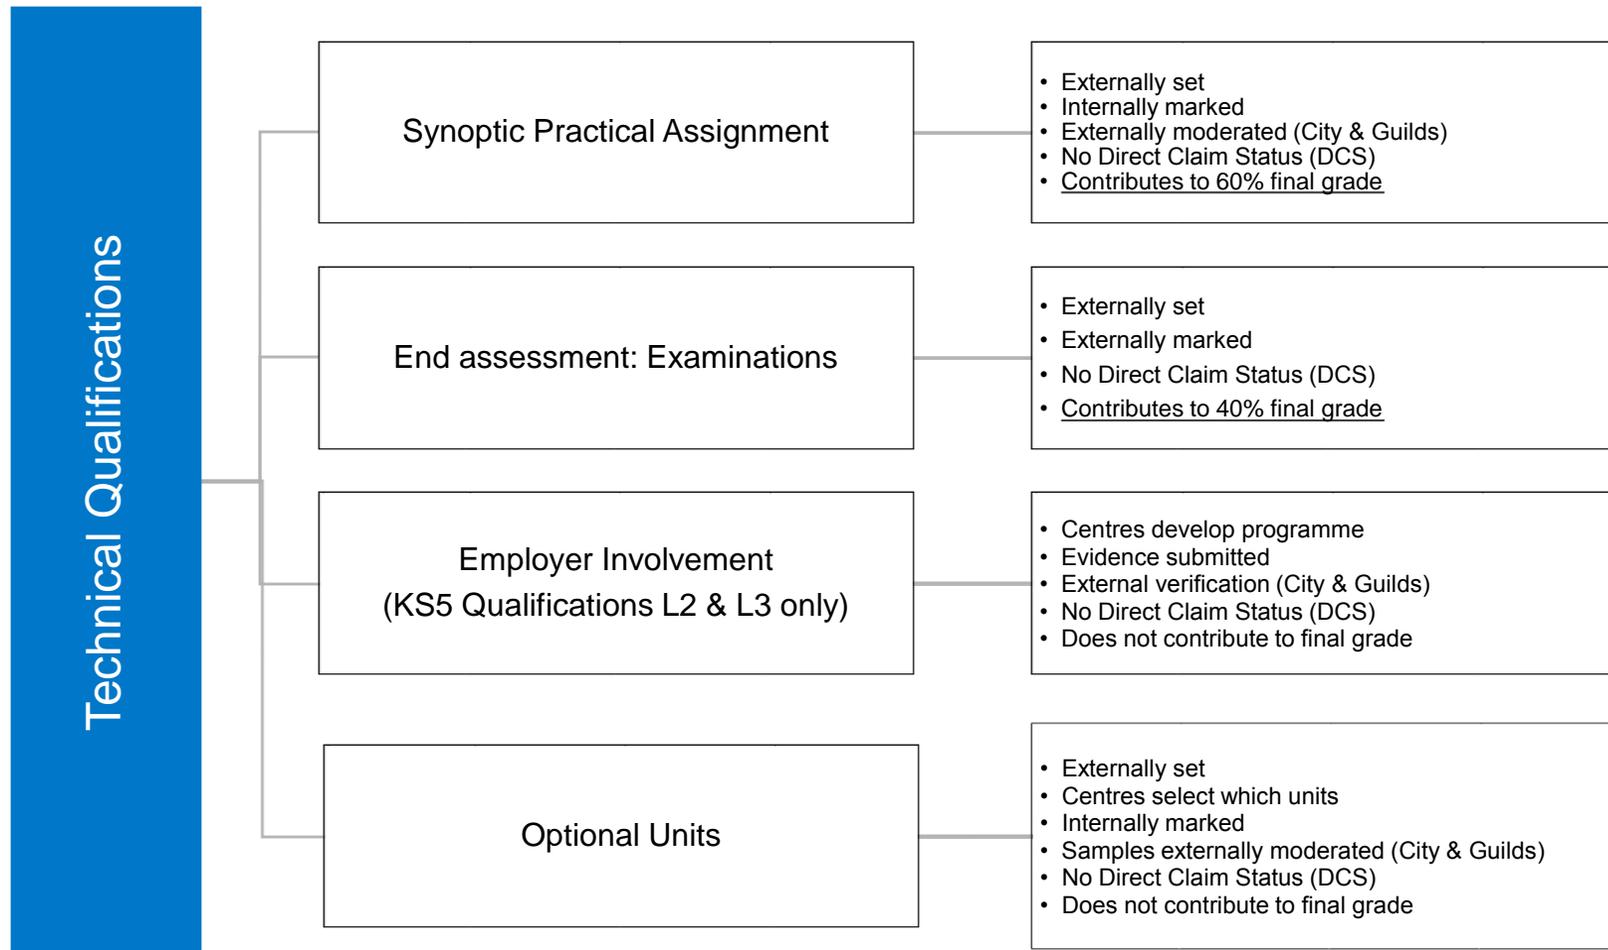

AO3 - Application of practical/technical skills.

AO4 - Bringing it all together - coherence of the whole subject.

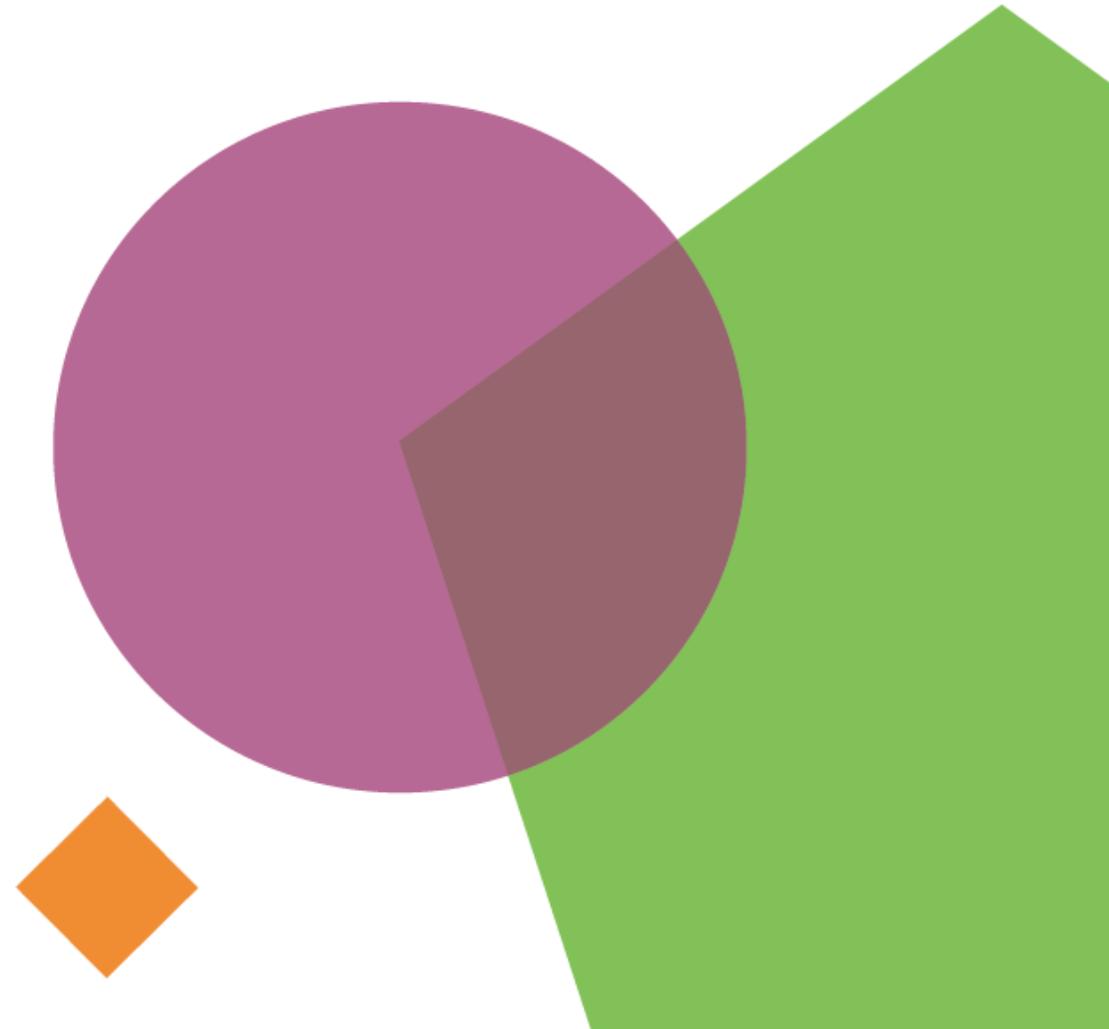

AO5 - Attention to detail/ perfecting.

Technical Qualifications

These are the components that make up Technical Qualifications. All components must be completed to achieve the qualification.

Technical Qualifications Moderation

Technical Qualifications

Moderation

- For synoptic practical assignments, internal centre marking goes through the process of moderation.
- Moderation is where City & Guilds review a sample of centre marking to ensure that it is consistent and meets agreed standards.
- Where it does not, moderators will make adjustments to centre marks, or the work will be remarked completely, before final marks are released.

*In most instances work will be submitted digitally and moderated remotely. For some qualifications a moderator may be required to visit the centre.

Technical Qualifications

Visiting moderation

For certain qualifications practical evidence plays a significant part in the assessment and evaluation of candidate performance. In these cases, the online moderation may be supported with a visit to the centre by the moderator

The objective of this visit is to:

- ensure that evidence gathered by the tutor during the practical sessions of the synoptic assessment is sufficient, valid and reliable enough to support marking or moderation
- allow the independent collection of evidence by the moderator providing a benchmark against which to compare the tutor-produced evidence.

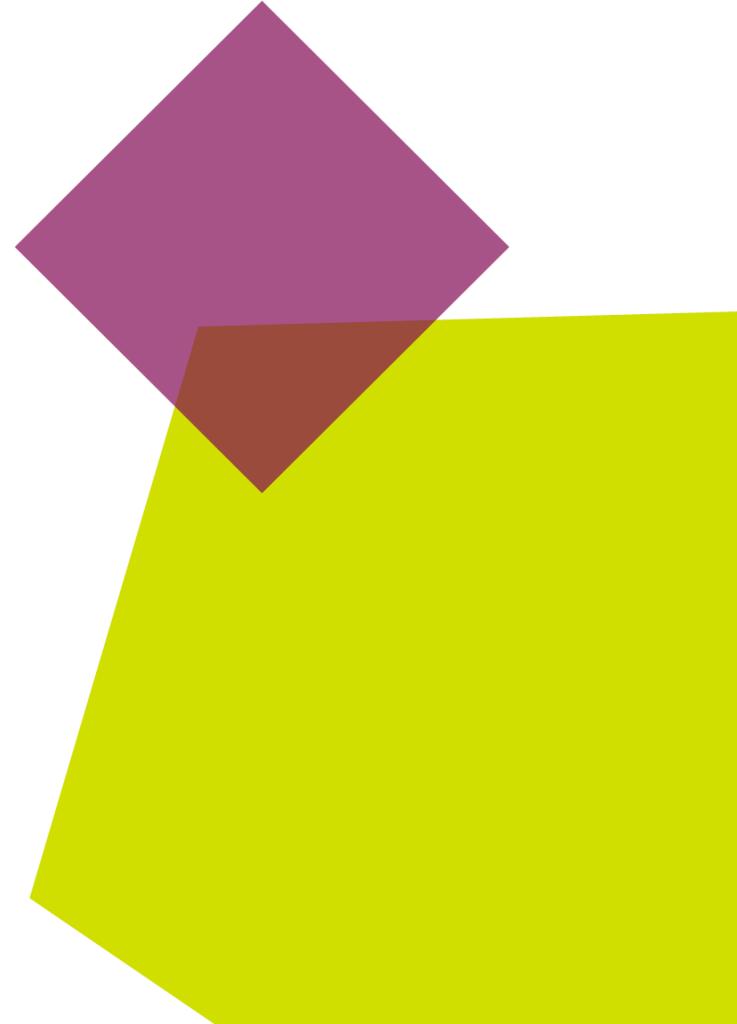

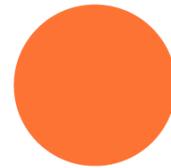

The moderation support team will contact the centre to find out when they will be undertaking the practical sections of the assessment. They will then agree the dates with the centre that the visit will take place after consulting the moderators.

Please note – this visit must take place in order for moderation to take place and final results to be issued. Centres and moderators will work together to ensure that this takes place
