NB: These figures refer only to candidates entered for and taking the national tests on fixed dates through City & Guilds centres. The tests are also available online and as 'weekly' paper-based tests; figures for the on-demand testing routes are collated separately and are therefore not included here.

Candidates may attempt the same test any number of times so these figures should not be taken to imply overall 'success rates', merely the proportion who were successful during particular test opportunities. Generally candidates accessing the on-demand testing routes perform better than those accessing the fixed date tests.
