Moderation Visits for Technicals Qualifications

Moderation visits principles

All centres delivering Technical Qualifications requiring Moderation Visits will be allocated visits according to the below principles for 2021/22. All centres will be notified of which principle their visits have been allocated under. This may result in some centres having multiple visits across various qualifications, where some centres may have just the one visit to cover a number of qualifications.

Single-level visit

These are qualifications where the ephemeral evidence forms a significant part of the output for the synoptic practical assessment and a significant amount of the learners' practical performance can be observed during the moderation visit.

For these qualifications within each subject area there will be one moderation visit per level. This one visit will include different sizes (GLH) and pathways (if applicable) within each level. So, for example 0172-31 (540), 0172-32 (720) and 0172-33 (1080) will be covered within one visit.

Multi-level visits

Where the same team of moderators are assigned to both levels of the qualification, and if it is practical to do so at the centre, a moderator may observe multiple levels of a qualification during the same visit.

If it is not possible for the centre to conduct practical assessments across both levels on the same day in one visit, then two visits (one at each level) may need to take place, but this will be agreed in principle by the Moderator and agreed with the Quality team at City & Guilds.

Sub-Industry Visits

These are qualifications where a significant amount of the evidence produced for the synoptic practical assessment is not ephemeral and can be assessed during remote moderation. The key focus of the visit is to provide support for the centre in how to run the synoptic practical assessment and gather evidence to support effective remote moderation.

For these qualifications there will be one Moderation visit for each sub-industry area rather than level or pathway. E.g. a centre delivering a number of courses in Agriculture across both Level 2 and Level 3 will receive one moderation visit.

Other Information

Where delivery of the qualification occurs across a number of sites (commonly referred to as suffix centres) the number of visits may be reduced by the Principal Moderator or Moderator after discussing with the centre. This will be where delivery involves the same staff across different locations. Following Moderation visits, centres are expected to then carry out standardisation across all pathways and all sites based on the feedback provided.
