

Helping you create learning success

Over 120 prisons in England and Wales work with us to support more than 60,000 young adults and adult learners each year.

While most prisoners hold very few qualifications, it's widely accepted that education is a key form of rehabilitation. So there are real opportunities in us working together to help you deliver qualifications and training.

City & Guilds works closely with employers to make sure its products and services are industry relevant. We offer qualifications across 26 industries including: Automotive, Business Skills, Construction, Hairdressing and Barbering, Hospitality and Catering, Land-based Services, Warehousing. We also have significant experience in maths, English and employability skills.

With everything from entry level to postgraduate equivalent, and to ILM leadership and management qualifications, we offer clear and wide-ranging pathways for progression. Choosing City & Guilds means certification from a name that is widely recognised for its quality, rigour and relevance.

The Ministry of Justice has made City & Guilds the exclusive provider* of qualifications in prisons in England for:

- maths and English
- Construction
- Hospitality and Catering

*From August 2018, exclusively from April 2019 – 2023

“Because City & Guilds qualifications are recognised and respected worldwide, I have had over 50 ex-prisoners achieve employment in the construction industry on release from prison. Achieving can change lives and I have seen this first hand.”

Andrew Dennis, Construction and Bricklaying Tutor
Andrew has worked with the Prison Service since 1991.

Offenders less likely to reoffend

Research shows that prisoners who had enrolled on a City & Guilds qualification and gained certification within the year being analysed were significantly less likely to reoffend, had a lower frequency of reoffences and took longer to reoffend than those who had not.

Research by the Ministry of Justice's Data Lab (February 2017)

“Not only have our graduates gained their hospitality qualifications and put them to good use, but they have learnt valuable life skills and confidence, enabling them to become stronger and offering a better future, for them as individuals and for their families, friends and society.”

Alberto Crisci, MBE, Founder of The Clink

In its first year, The Clink charity reduced reoffending to just 10% (compared to the national average of 47%). Clink graduates have all worked towards a City & Guilds qualification in hospitality or horticulture.

A Ban the Box employer

The City & Guilds Group is a Ban the Box employer. When given a chance, ex-offenders make excellent employees, often exceeding employer's expectations. Many Ban the Box employers report increased loyalty and commitment among their employees with a criminal record.

Skills Development Fund investment

The City & Guilds Group has worked with St Giles Trust through their Skills Development Fund programme to up skill peer advisors who are supporting offenders and ex-offenders to progress into employment. Peer advisors are trained to give employment support, advice and guidance – and are often either ex-offenders or individuals who are from disadvantaged backgrounds where they are at risk of offending. Awarded £100,000 through the Fund, St Giles Trust were able to develop a qualification which trained 63 peer advisors. These peer advisors are working with over 100 people, who are now three times more likely to be employed having had some contact with the St Giles Trust programme. The estimated saving to the public purse as a result of these people having been reached through the programme is £6.5m over three years – demonstrating the impact that employment has on preventing reoffending.
