About this manual

This apprenticeship training manual provides apprentices with a range of practical tasks to allow them to apply their knowledge and skills. It is designed to support formative learning by allowing the apprentice to track their progress and record evidence.

The tasks are mapped to the Engineering Operative, Maintenance and Operations Engineering Technician, Engineering Technician and Engineering Fitter apprenticeship standards, and have been devised to prepare apprentices for the requirements of their end-point assessment. Each task contains the following features:

- information about the practical activity that enables apprentices to practise a particular skill
- a resources section allowing apprentices to detail all PPE, tools and equipment needed to complete the task

- detailed instructions and technical drawings to support apprentices with their practical activity
- a task checklist to help apprentices ensure that they have fully completed a task
- optional extension activities allowing apprentices to further develop their knowledge and skills
- an opportunity for apprentices to reflect on their learning and for employers and trainers to provide feedback.

The tasks should cover all the skills and behaviours required for the apprenticeships, but the tasks do not need to be completed in the order given in the manual. Employers and training providers should feel free to assign the tasks in any order.
