Product code: SS0280-5546

This package is designed to provide a teaching and learning programme which can be delivered by a tutor or facilitator working with individuals who are not yet ready to enter the employment market but need to progress into further study or towards employment. Aligning with the City & Guilds Employability Framework, this first stage focuses on developing the six skills areas which are vital for individuals to become effective in life, learning and work:

- Communicating face to face
- Growth mindset
- Communicating digitally and with AI
- Self and time management
- Teamwork and collaboration
- Problem solving and initiative

This resource is designed to be delivered as a standalone programme, and learners can be registered for the Work Aware Learning Programme (5547-01) to have their learning recognised by digital credentials, as part of Tailored Learning or Sector-based Work Academy Programmes or alongside City & Guilds vocational, sector-specific qualifications. Alternatively, it can be delivered as an enhancement for our keystone employability qualifications: Employability Skills (5546). Learners completing their Employability Skills qualifications can also be registered for Work Aware Employability Skills under 5547-02, and using the mapping guidance available, teachers or tutors can use the evidence from their 5546 qualification to claim the Work Aware credentials too.

The package contains a facilitator guide, and a scheme of delivery and PowerPoint slides for each session plus additional worksheets and materials. A reflective journal is provided for learners to use.
