1 Introduction

What is this qualification about?

The following purpose statement relates to the City & Guilds Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Media Make-up Artistry (540) (601/7501/1):

Area	Description
OVERVIEW
Who is this qualification for?	The City & Guilds Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Media Make-up Artistry provides you with specialist practical skills and knowledge which will equip you to seek employment or progression within the media make-up industry. This qualification is aimed at you if you are looking to work in the make-up industry. A Level 2 Diploma in Hair and Media Make-up or equivalent industry experience is a recommended entry requirement. This qualification is suitable for anyone over the age of 16 years.
What does this qualification cover?	This qualification covers a very wide range of skills and knowledge required for working in the Media Make-up industry. These are compulsory areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Working in the film, TV and theatre industry• Create historical hair and make-up looks• Media make-up creative hair design• Fashion and photographic make-up• The creation and presentation of a look book and industry portfolio• Apply body art• Camouflage make-up Optional areas include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Cutting and styling techniques for performers• Avant-guard hair and make-up• The evolution of cosmetics and retail• Specialist bridal hair and make-up• Media Make-up blogging Centres and providers work with local employers who will contribute to the knowledge and delivery of training. Employers will provide demonstrations and talks on the industry and where possible work placements will also be

provided by the employers. This practically based training is ideal preparation for gaining employment in the Media Make-up industry or specialist further study.

WHAT COULD THIS QUALIFICATION LEAD TO?

Will the qualification lead to employment, and if so, in which job role and at what level?

Achievement of this qualification demonstrates to an employer that you have the necessary advanced technical skills to be employed as a Make-up Artist.

This qualification could lead to a job as a:

- Photographic make-up artist
- Editorial make-up artist
- TV make-up artist
- Video make-up artist
- Freelance make-up artist
- Specialist bridal make-up artist.

Why choose this qualification over similar qualifications?

City & Guilds offers two different technical level qualifications at Level 3 covering the skills and knowledge needed to work in the Make-up Industry.

You are likely to choose this qualification if you want to cover all of the skills and knowledge needed to work as a make-up artist for photographic, editorial, TV, video or specialist make up shoots. The units covered in this qualification will give you a wide range of progression or employment opportunities.

However, if you are interested in working as a theatrical and media make-up artist within a theatre, TV, filming etc you may want to consider the Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Theatrical, Special Effects and Media Make-up Artistry. This Technical Diploma allows you to complete more advanced techniques that are needed to work as a theatrical and media make-up artist, the ability to cast and apply special effects, wig dressing and fitting, costume design and prop making.

Will the qualification lead to further learning?

The learner could progress into employment or to a Level 4 qualification in Advanced Techniques such as:
City & Guilds Level 4 Certificate in Advanced Theatrical and Media Make-up.

Alternatively, you can progress into Higher Education and go on to study subjects such as:

- Theatrical and Media studies,
- Fashion and Photographic Degree
- or an Art Degree

Qualification structure

For the City & Guilds Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Media Make-up Artistry (540) the teaching programme must cover the content detailed in the structure below:

Unit number	Unit title	GLH
Mandatory
301	Working in the film, TV and theatre industry	60
302	The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio	30
303	Fashion and photographic make-up	90
304	Media make-up creative hair design	30
305	Create historical hair and make-up looks	60
306	Apply body art	60
307	Camouflage make-up	30
Optional – Learners must be taught at least 180 GLH from units 308 - 312
308	Specialist bridal hair and make-up	60
309	Cutting and styling techniques for performers	60
310	Avant-garde hair and make-up	30
311	The evolution of cosmetics and retail	60
312	Media make-up blogging	30

Assessment requirements and employer involvement

To achieve the City & Guilds Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Media Make-up Artistry (540) candidates must successfully complete all the mandatory assessment components as well as the optional assessment components for their chosen optional units.

Component number	Title
Mandatory
030 or 530	Externally set, externally marked test
031	Externally set, externally moderated synoptic assignment
032	Portfolio of creative work
Optional
308	Specialist bridal hair and make-up
309	Cutting and styling techniques for performers
310	Avant-garde hair and make-up
311	The evolution of cosmetics and retail
312	Media make-up blogging

In addition, candidates must achieve the mandatory employer involvement requirement for this qualification before they can be awarded a qualification grade. For more information, please see guidance in Section 4: Employer involvement.

2 Centre requirements

Approval

New centres will need to gain centre approval. Existing centres who wish to offer this qualification must go through City & Guilds' full Qualification Approval Process. There is no fast track approval for this qualification. Please refer to the City & Guilds website for further information on the approval process: www.cityandguilds.com

Resource requirements

Centre staff should familiarise themselves with the structure, content and assessment requirements of the qualification before designing a course programme.

Centre staffing

Staff delivering this qualification must be able to demonstrate that they meet the following requirements:

- be technically competent in the areas in which they are delivering
- be able to deliver across the breadth and depth of the content of the qualification being taught
- have recent relevant teaching and assessment experience in the specific area they will be teaching, or be working towards this
- demonstrate continuing CPD.

Physical resources

Centres must be able to demonstrate that they have access to the equipment and technical resources required to deliver this qualification and its assessments.

Internal Quality Assurance

Internal quality assurance is key to ensuring accuracy and consistency of tutors and markers. Internal Quality Assurers (IQAs) monitor the work of all tutors involved with a qualification to ensure they are applying standards consistently throughout assessment activities. IQAs must have, and maintain, an appropriate level of technical competence and be qualified to make both marking and quality assurance decisions through a teaching qualification or recent, relevant experience.

Learner entry requirements

Centres must ensure that all learners have the opportunity to gain the qualification through appropriate study and training, and that any prerequisites stated in the What is this qualification about? section are met when registering on this qualification.

Age restrictions

This qualification is approved for learners aged 16 – 19, 19+.

3 Delivering technical qualifications

Initial assessment and induction

An initial assessment of each learner should be made before the start of their programme to identify:

- if the learner has any specific training needs,
- support and guidance, they may need when working towards their qualification,
- the appropriate type and level of qualification.

We recommend that centres provide an introduction so that learners fully understand the requirements of the qualification, their responsibilities as a learner, and the responsibilities of the centre. This information can be recorded on a learning contract.

Employer involvement

Employer involvement is essential to maximise the value of each learner's experience. Centres are required to involve employers in the delivery of technical qualifications and/or their assessment, for every learner. This must be in place or planned before delivery programmes begin in order to gain qualification approval. See Section 4: Employer involvement for more detail.

4 Employer involvement

Department for Education (DfE) requirements state:

Employer involvement in the delivery and/or assessment of technical qualifications provides a clear 'line of sight' to work, enriches learning, raises the credibility of the qualification in the eyes of employers, parents and students and furthers collaboration between the learning and skills sector and industry.

[Technical qualifications] must:

- require all students to undertake meaningful activity involving employers during their study; and
- be governed by quality assurance procedures run by the awarding organisation to confirm that education providers have secured employer involvement for every student.

Extract from: Vocational qualifications for 16 to 19 year olds 2017 and 2018 performance tables: technical guidance for awarding organisations, DfE (2015) paragraphs 89-90.

City & Guilds will provide support and quality assurance of employer involvement.

Qualification approval

To be approved to offer City & Guilds technicals, centres must provide an action plan showing how every learner will be able to experience meaningful employer involvement, and from where sufficient and suitable employer representatives are expected to be sourced for their learners.

Centres must include in their plan sufficient activities throughout the learning programme that provide a range of employer interactions for learners. Centres must also describe how they will make contingencies for learners who may miss events through absence.

Centres which cannot show sufficient commitment from employers and/or a credible activity plan will be given an action for improvement with a realistic timescale for completion. Approval will not be given if employer involvement cannot be assured either at the start of the qualification, or through an appropriate plan of action to address this requirement before the learner is certificated.

Monitoring and reporting learner engagement

Employer involvement is a formal component of this qualification so centres must gather evidence that demonstrates that each learner has been involved in meaningful employer based activities against the mandatory content before claiming the Employer involvement component for learners. Centres must record the range and type of employer involvement each learner has experienced. These records must be available for review by External Quality Assurers (EQAs) on request.

Types of involvement

Centres should note that to be eligible, employer involvement activities must relate to one or more elements of the mandatory content of this qualification. This does not mean that employer involvement in the optional units is not valuable, and centres are encouraged to consider this wherever appropriate. This will be quality assured by City & Guilds and any candidate who does not meet this criteria will not be able to achieve the qualification certificate.

As the aim of employer involvement is to enrich learning and to give learners a taste of the expectations of employers in the industry area they are studying, centres are encouraged to work creatively with local employers.

Employers can identify the areas of skills and knowledge in their particular industry that they would wish to see emphasised for learners who may apply to work with them in the future. Centres and employers can then establish the type of input, and which employer representative might be able to best support these aims.

To be of most benefit this must add to, rather than replace the centre's programme of learning. Some examples of meaningful employer involvement are listed below. Employer involvement not related to the mandatory element of the qualification, although valuable in other ways, does not count towards this element of the qualification.

The DfE has set out activities that are and those that are not eligible as meaningful employer involvement as follows^{1,2}:

Meaningful employer involvement:

In all cases participating industry practitioners and employers must be relevant to the industry sector or occupation/occupational group to which the qualification relates.

- students undertake structured work-experience or work-placements that develop skills and knowledge relevant to the qualification³;
- students undertake project(s), exercise(s) and/or assessments/examination(s) set with input from industry practitioner(s);
- students take one or more units delivered or co-delivered by an industry practitioner(s). This could take the form of master classes or guest lectures;
- industry practitioners operate as 'expert witnesses' that contribute to the assessment of a student's work or practice, operating within a specified assessment framework. This may be a specific project(s), exercise(s) or examination(s), or all assessments for a qualification.

The following activities, whilst valuable, do not meet the requirement for meaningful employer involvement:

- employers' or industry practitioners' input to the initial design and content of a qualification;
- employers hosting visits, providing premises, facilities or equipment;
- employers or industry practitioners providing talks or contributing to delivery on employability, general careers advice, CV writing, interview training etc;
- student attendance at career fairs, events or other networking opportunities;
- simulated or provider-based working environments eg hairdressing salons, florists, restaurants, travel agents, small manufacturing units, car servicing facilities;
- employers providing students with job references.

Below is guidance on the type of activities that can be considered employer involvement for this qualification. Further guidance can be found in the Guidance for delivery sections of the individual units.

Employers could be employed to aid learner's progress by acting as guest speakers to cohort groups. Guest speaker's experiences and the opportunity for learners to ask questions, linked to assignment tasks, could benefit whole groups of learners.

The use of scenario led tasks are essential in the assessment of this qualification. Work can be set in the context of case studies from local employers. Visits to companies/shows/exhibitions will enhance this aspect of the qualification.

² This list has been informed by a call for examples of good practice in employer involvement in the delivery and assessment of technical qualifications - Employer involvement in the delivery and assessment of vocational qualifications

³ DfE work experience guidance

A partnership approach should be adopted where possible with employers with whom the centre has links, and with employers used for work experience placements.

It would be helpful for tutors to develop a method of maintaining contact with a range of employers in the sectors who may be able to help with keeping the examples of legislation, policies and codes of practice used in the taught content up to date.

Types of evidence

The types of evidence required to support a claim for this component will vary depending on the nature of the involvement. Eg for a guest lecture it is expected that a synopsis of the lecture and register would be taken which each learner and the guest speaker will have signed; expert witnesses will be identified and will have signed the relevant assessment paperwork for each learner they have been involved in assessing; evidence of contribution from employers to the development of locally set or adapted assignments.

Quality assurance process

After approval and during the first year of delivery, EQAs will request final plans and records of employer involvement activities that have taken place to ensure that the plans are sufficient and to provide support and guidance if involvement is not sufficient.

Evidence will be validated by EQAs before centres can claim the Employer Involvement component for each learner. Where employer involvement is not judged to be sufficient, certificates cannot be claimed for learners.

Sufficiency of involvement for each learner

It is expected that the centre will plan a range of activities that provide sufficient live involvement for each learner to have opportunities to interact directly with a range of individuals employed in the related industry. Centres must also provide contingencies for learners who may be absent for part of their teaching, so that they are not disadvantaged. Any absence that results in a learner missing arranged activities must be documented.

Live involvement

Learners will gain most benefit from direct interaction with employers and/or their staff; however, the use of technology (eg the use of live webinars) is encouraged to maximise the range of interactions. Where learners are able to interact in real time with employers, including through the use of technology, this will be classed as 'live involvement'.

It is considered good practice to record learning activities, where possible, to allow learners to revisit their experience and to provide a contingency for absent learners. This is not classed as live involvement however, and any involvement of this type for a learner must be identified as contingency.

Timing

A learner who has not met the minimum requirements cannot be awarded the component, and will therefore not achieve the qualification. It is therefore important that employer involvement is not left until the end of the qualification, and that centres monitor and provide contingencies throughout the learning period.

5 Assessment

Summary of assessment methods and conditions

Component number	Assessment method	Description and conditions
030/530	Externally marked test	This test is externally set and externally marked, and will be sat online through City & Guilds' computer-based testing platform (030) or as a paper-based test (530). The test is designed to assess candidate's depth and breadth of understanding across the mandatory content in the qualification at the end of the period of learning, and will be sat under invigilated examination conditions. See JCQ requirements for details: http://www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/ice---instructions-for-conducting-examinations The test specification on page 20 shows the coverage of this test across the qualification content. Candidates who fail the exam at the first sitting will have a maximum of two opportunities to retake. If the candidate fails the exam three times then they will fail the qualification. (Note: the third and final retake opportunity applies to Level 3 only.) For exam dates, please refer to the Assessment and Examination timetable.
031	Externally moderated synoptic assignment	This assignment is externally set, internally marked and externally moderated, and is designed to require the candidate to identify and use effectively in an integrated way an appropriate selection of skills, techniques, concepts, theories, and knowledge from across the whole content area. Candidates will be judged against the assessment objectives. Assignments will be released to centre staff towards the end of the learners' programme, usually the week before Easter each year. Centres will be required to maintain the security of all live assessment materials until assessment windows are open. Assignments will therefore be password protected and released to centres through a secure method. Guidance on equipment, resources and duration will be released as appropriate to ensure centres can plan for delivery of practical assignments in advance. The marking grids for the assignment will be available to centres from the start of the learning programme. Candidates who fail this assignment on first submission of marks will have one opportunity to re-sit, and must sit a new task or assignment different to the original assessment. If the re-sit is failed

		the candidate will fail the qualification as a whole, and cannot achieve the qualification within that academic year. Please note that for externally set assignments City & Guilds provides guidance and support to centres on the marking process and associated marking grid in the assessment pack for the qualification, and in the Guidance on the use of marking grids.
032	Portfolio of creative work	This assignment is internally marked and externally verified. This portfolio will consist of work the candidate has produced over the duration of their course. They will be judged on quality of the production of their portfolio. To have a portfolio of creative work which showcases artistic ability is important when working in the media make-up industry.
Optional units 308, 309, 310, 311, 312	Externally verified assignment	These assignments are externally set, internally marked and externally verified, and are designed to assess a specific optional task or area of the qualification. To do this, the candidate will be required to identify and use effectively an appropriate selection of skills, techniques, concepts, theories, and knowledge from across the whole content area. Assignments will be released to centre staff towards the end of the candidates' learning programme, this is expected to be the week before Easter each year. Centres will be required to maintain the security of all live assessment materials until assessment windows open. Assignments will therefore be password protected and released to centres through a secure method. Guidance on equipment, resources and duration will be released as appropriate to ensure centres can plan for delivery of practical assignments in advance. Candidates who fail this assignment on first submission of marks will have only one opportunity to re-sit, and must sit a new task or assignment different to the original assessment. If the re-sit is failed the candidate will be a fail for the qualification as a whole, and cannot achieve the qualification within that academic year.

What is synoptic assessment?

Technical qualifications are based around the development of a toolkit of knowledge, understanding and skills that an individual need in order to have the capability to work in a particular industry or occupational area. Individuals in all technical areas are expected to be able to apply their knowledge, understanding and skills in decision making to solve problems and achieve given outcomes independently and confidently.

City & Guilds technical qualifications require candidates to draw together their learning from across the qualification to solve problems or achieve specific outcomes by explicitly assessing this through the synoptic assignment component.

In this externally set, internally marked and externally moderated assessment the focus is on bringing together, selecting and applying learning from across the qualification rather than demonstrating achievement against units or subsets of the qualification content. The candidate will be given an appropriately levelled, substantial, occupationally relevant problem to solve or outcome to achieve. For example, this might be in the form of a briefing from a client, leaving the candidate with the scope to select and carry out the processes required to achieve the client's wishes, as they would in the workplace.

Candidates will be marked against assessment objectives (AOs) such as their breadth and accuracy of knowledge, understanding of concepts, and the quality of their technical skills as well as their ability to use what they have learned in an integrated way to achieve a considered and high-quality outcome. These are detailed on page 18.

How the assignment is synoptic for this qualification

The typical assignment brief could be to design and create a series of looks, and capture some of these at a photoshoot. The looks will typically cover fashion and photographic make-up, media make-up, creative hair design, historical hair and make-up looks, body art and camouflage make-up. The candidate will create a portfolio for the looks, create some of the looks using a model, and capture the looks at a photoshoot. This will require the candidate to draw from across the qualification content to ensure they complete the tasks effectively, including the technical skills required to create the looks.

External test for stretch, challenge and integration

The external assessment will draw from across the mandatory content of the qualification, using a range of shorter questions to confirm breadth of knowledge and understanding. Extended response questions are included, giving candidates the opportunity to demonstrate higher level understanding and integration through discussion, analysis and evaluation, and ensuring the assessment can differentiate between 'just able' and higher achieving candidates.

Optional unit assessments and integration into the synoptic qualification content

While the mandatory units for this qualification provide the main skills and knowledge required to work in media make-up, the optional units provided give centres flexibility when devising programmes to meet local employment needs, where the purpose of the qualification demands this. The assessments for the optional units will require that the candidate has experienced the full breadth of mandatory learning of the qualification in order to better demonstrate the rounded performance expected at higher grades.

Optional unit assessments are externally set, internally marked and externally verified.

Assessment objectives

The assessments for this qualification are set against a set of assessment objectives (AOs) which are used across all City & Guilds Technicals to promote consistency among qualifications of a similar purpose. They are designed to allow judgement of the candidate to be made across a number of different categories of performance.

Each assessment for the qualification has been allocated a set number of marks against these AOs based on weightings recommended by stakeholders of the qualification. This mark allocation remains the same for all versions of the assessments, ensuring consistency across assessment versions and over time.

The following table explains all AOs in detail, including weightings for the synoptic assignments. In some cases, due to the nature of a qualification's content, it is not appropriate to award marks for some AOs. Where this is the case these have been marked as N/A. Weightings for tests (AOs 1, 2 and 4 only) can be found with the test specification.

Test specification

AO weightings per test

AO	Test 030/530 weighting (approx. %)
AO1 Recalls knowledge from across the breadth of the qualification.	29
AO2 Demonstrates understanding of concepts, theories and processes from across the breadth of the qualification.	49
AO4 Applies knowledge, understanding and skills from across the breadth of the qualification in an integrated and holistic way to achieve specified purposes.	22

The way the test covers the content of the qualification is laid out in the table below:

Assessment type: Examiner marked, written test*

Assessment conditions: Invigilated examination conditions

Grading: X/P/M/D

030/530	Duration: 2 hours 40 minutes
Unit	Unit Title	Number of marks	%
301	Working in the film, TV and theatre industry	23	29
303	Fashion and photographic make-up	19	24
305	Create historical hair and make-up looks	20	25
Applied knowledge and understanding		18	22
Total		80	100

*These tests are sat under invigilated examination conditions, as defined by the JCQ:
<http://www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/ice---instructions-for-conducting-examinations>.

Entry for tests can be made through the City & Guilds Walled Garden.

6 Moderation and standardisation of assessment

City & Guilds' externally set synoptic assignments for technical qualifications are designed to draw from across the qualifications' content, and to contribute a significant proportion towards the learner's final qualification grade. They are subject to a rigorous external quality assurance process known as external moderation.

Moderation is the process where external quality assurers are standardised to a national standard in order to review centre marking of internally marked assessments. These external quality assurers are referred to as 'moderators'. Moderators will review a representative sample of 'candidate work' across the mark range from every centre. Their marks act as a benchmark to inform City & Guilds whether centre marking is in line with City & Guilds' standard.

Where moderation shows that the centre is applying the marking criteria within a reasonable range of mark tolerance, centre marks for the whole cohort will be accepted. Where moderation shows that the centre is either consistently too lenient or consistently too harsh in comparison to the national standard, an appropriate adjustment (up or down) will be made to the marks of the whole cohort, retaining the centre's rank ordering. Due to the nature of the assessment and the marking grid across Assessment Objectives (AOs), it is not expected that the tutors mark and the moderators mark will match exactly.

Where centre application of the marking criteria is inconsistent, an appropriate adjustment for the whole cohort may not be possible on the basis of the sample of candidate work. In these instances a complete remark of the candidate work may be necessary.

Additional unit and optional unit assessments are also subject to external quality assurance through a verification process. This involves external quality assurers scrutinising IQA records; sampling candidates' work across a range of units and also sampling across the mark/grade range. Centres are then provided with feedback and actions to ensure that results are valid and reliable.

For more detailed information, on the quality assurance process for synoptic assignments and additional unit and optional unit assessments please refer to 'Quality Assurance Guide for Centres: Technical Qualifications and the EPQ available to download on the City & Guilds website.

It is vital that centres familiarise themselves with this process, and how it impacts on their delivery plan within the academic year.

Supervision and authentication of internally assessed work

The Head of Centre is responsible for ensuring that internally assessed work is conducted in accordance with City & Guilds' requirements.

City & Guilds requires both tutors and candidates to sign declarations of authenticity. If the tutor is unable to sign the authentication statement for a particular candidate, then the candidate's work cannot be accepted for assessment.

Internal standardisation

For internally marked work⁴ the centre is required to conduct internal standardisation to ensure that all work at the centre has been marked and/or graded to the same standard. It is the Internal Quality Assurer's (IOA's) responsibility to ensure that standardisation has taken place, and that the training includes the use of reference and archive materials such as work from previous years as appropriate.

Internal appeal

Centres must have an internal process in place for candidates to appeal the marking of internally marked components, ie the synoptic assignment and any optional unit assignments. This must take place before the submission of marks or grades for external quality assurance. The internal process must include candidates being informed of the marks (or grades) the centre has given for internally assessed components, as they will need these to make the decision about whether or not to appeal.

Post-moderation procedures

Once the external quality assurance processes have been completed, feedback is provided to the centre on the standard of the internal assessment, highlighting areas of good practice, and potential areas for improvement. This will inform future centre assessment, and standardisation activities, as well as external quality assurance and risk management activity.

City & Guilds will then carry out awarding, the process by which grade boundaries are set with reference to the candidate evidence available on the platform.

Centres retaining evidence

Centres must also retain assessment records for each candidate for a minimum of three years. To help prevent plagiarism or unfair advantage in future versions, candidate work may not be returned to candidates. Samples may however be retained by the centre as examples for future standardisation of marking.

Use of technology and innovation

City & Guilds will set evidence requirements for moderated assignments based on their fitness for purpose in terms of validity, reliability and manageability. This will include use of digital evidence and new technologies to support the moderation process wherever current available technology allows.

⁴ For any internally assessed optional unit assignments, the same process must be followed where assessors must standardise their interpretation of the assessment and grading criteria.

7 Grading

Awarding individual assessments

Individual assessments will be graded pass/merit/distinction where relevant. The grade boundaries for pass and distinction for each assessment will be set through a judgemental process using technical experts. Merit will usually be set at the midpoint between pass and distinction. The grade descriptors for pass and distinction, and other relevant information (eg archived samples of candidate work and statistical evidence) will be used to determine the mark at which candidate performance in the assessment best aligns with the grade descriptor in the context of the qualification's purpose. Boundaries will be set for each version of each assessment to take into account relative difficulty.

Please note that as the Merit grade will usually be set at the arithmetical midpoint between pass and distinction, there are no descriptors for the Merit grade for the qualification overall.

Grade descriptors

To achieve a pass, a candidate will be able to

- Demonstrate the knowledge and understanding required to work in the occupational area, its principles, practices and legislation.
- Describe some of the main factors impacting on the occupation to show good understanding of how work tasks are shaped by the broader social, environmental and business environment it operates within.
- Use the technical industry specific terminology used in the industry accurately.
- Demonstrate the application of relevant theory and understanding to solve non-routine problems.
- Interpret a brief for complex work-related tasks, identifying the key aspects, and showing a secure understanding of the application of concepts to specific work-related tasks.
- Carry out planning which shows an ability to identify and analyse the relevant information in the brief and use knowledge and understanding from across the qualification (including complex technical information) to interpret what a fit for purpose outcome would be and develop a plausible plan to achieve it.
- Achieve an outcome which successfully meets the key requirements of the brief.
- Identify and reflect on the most obvious measures of success for the task and evaluate how successful they have been in meeting the intentions of the plan.
- Work safely throughout, independently carrying out tasks and procedures, and having some confidence in attempting the more complex tasks.

To achieve a distinction, a candidate will be able to

- Demonstrate the excellent knowledge and understanding required to work to a high level in the occupational area, its principles, practices and legislation.
- Analyse the impact of different factors on the occupation to show deep understanding of how work tasks are shaped by the broader social, environmental, and business environment it operates within.
- Demonstrate the application of relevant theory and understanding to provide efficient and effective solutions to complex and non-routine problems.
- Analyse the brief in detail, showing confident understanding of concepts and themes from across the qualification content, bringing these together to develop a clear and stretching plan, that would credibly achieve an outcome that is highly fit for purpose.

- Achieve an outcome which shows an attention to detail in its planning, development and completion, so that it completely meets or exceeds the expectations of the brief to a high standard.
- Carry out an evaluation in a systematic way, focussing on relevant quality points, identifying areas of development/ improvement as well as assessing the fitness for purpose of the outcome.

Awarding grades and reporting results

The overall qualification grade will be calculated based on aggregation of the candidate's achievement in each of the assessments for the mandatory units, taking into account the assessments' weighting. The Level 3 Advanced Technical Diploma in Media Make-up Artistry (540) will be reported on a four grade scale: Pass, Merit, Distinction, Distinction*.

All assessments must be achieved at a minimum of Pass for the qualification to be awarded. Candidates who fail to reach the minimum standard for grade Pass for an assessment(s) will not have a qualification grade awarded and will not receive a qualification certificate.

The approximate pass grade boundary(ies) for the synoptic assignment(s) in this qualification are:

Synoptic Assignment	Pass Mark (%)
031	40%

Please note that each synoptic assignment is subject to an awarding process before final grade boundaries are confirmed.

The contribution of assessments towards the overall qualification grade is as follows:

Assessment method	Grade scale	% contribution
Synoptic Assignment (031)	X/P/M/D	60%
Exam (030/530)	X/P/M/D	40%

Both synoptic assignments and exams are awarded (see 'Awarding individual assessments', at the start of Section 7, above), and candidates' grades converted to points. The minimum points available for each assessment grade is listed in the table below. A range of points between the Pass, Merit and Distinction boundaries will be accessible to candidates. For example, a candidate that achieves a middle to high Pass in an assessment will receive between 8 and 10 points, a candidate that achieves a low to middle Merit in an assessment will receive between 12 and 14 points. The points above the minimum for the grade for each assessment are calculated based on the candidate's score in that assessment.

	Pass	Merit	Distinction
Assignment: 60%	6	12	18
Exam: 40%	6	12	18

The candidate's points for each assessment are multiplied by the % contribution of the assessment and then aggregated. The minimum points required for each qualification grade are as follows:

Qualification Grade	Minimum points
Distinction*	20.5
Distinction	17
Merit	11
Pass	6

8 Administration

Approved centres must have effective quality assurance systems to ensure valid and reliable delivery and assessment of qualifications. Quality assurance includes initial centre registration by City & Guilds and the centre's own internal procedures for monitoring quality assurance procedures.

Consistent quality assurance requires City & Guilds and its associated centres to work together closely; our Quality Assurance Model encompasses both internal quality assurance (activities and processes undertaken within centres) and external quality assurance (activities and processes undertaken by City & Guilds).

For this qualification, standards and rigorous quality assurance are maintained by the use of:

- internal quality assurance
- City & Guilds external moderation (synoptic assessments)
- City & Guilds external verification (additional unit / optional assessments).

In order to carry out the quality assurance role, Internal Quality Assurers (IQAs) must have and maintain an appropriate level of technical competence and have recent relevant assessment experience. For more information on the requirements, refer to Section 2: Centre requirements in this handbook.

To meet the quality assurance criteria for this qualification, the centre must ensure that the following procedures are followed:

- suitable training of staff involved in the assessment of the qualification to ensure they understand the process of marking and standardisation
- completion by the person responsible for internal standardisation of the Centre Declaration Sheet to confirm that internal standardisation has taken place
- the completion by candidates and supervisors/tutors of the record form for each candidate's work.

External quality assurance

City & Guilds will undertake external moderation and verification activities to ensure that the quality assurance criteria for this qualification are being met. Centres must ensure that they co-operate with City & Guilds staff and representatives when undertaking these activities.

City & Guilds requires the Head of Centre to:

- facilitate any inspection of the centre which is undertaken on behalf of City & Guilds
- make secure arrangements to receive, check and keep assessment material secure at all times, maintain the security of City & Guilds confidential material from receipt to the time when it is no longer confidential and keep completed assignment work and examination scripts secure from the time they are collected from the candidates to their dispatch to City & Guilds.

Enquiries about results

The services available for enquiries about results include a review of marking for exam results and review of moderation for synoptic assignments. Requests must be submitted within the specified period after the publication of results for individual assessments. Please see the City & Guilds website for more information.

Re-sits and shelf-life of assessment results

Candidates who have failed an exam or wish to re-take it in an attempt to improve their grade, can do so twice. The best result will count towards the final qualification. See guidance on individual assessment types in Section 5.

Factors affecting individual learners

If work is lost, City & Guilds should be notified immediately of the date of the loss, how it occurred, and who was responsible for the loss. Centres should use the JCQ form, JCQ/LCW, to inform City & Guilds Customer Services of the circumstances.

Learners who move from one centre to another during the course may require individual attention. Possible courses of action depend on the stage at which the move takes place. Centres should contact City & Guilds at the earliest possible stage for advice about appropriate arrangements in individual cases.

Malpractice

Please refer to the City & Guilds guidance notes Managing cases of suspected malpractice in examinations and assessments. This document sets out the procedures to be followed in identifying and reporting malpractice by candidates and/or centre staff and the actions which City & Guilds may subsequently take. The document includes examples of candidate and centre malpractice and explains the responsibilities of centre staff to report actual or suspected malpractice. Centres can access this document on the City & Guilds website.

Examples of candidate malpractice are detailed below (please note that this is not an exhaustive list):

- falsification of assessment evidence or results documentation
- plagiarism of any nature
- collusion with others
- copying from another candidate (including the use of ICT to aid copying), or allowing work to be copied
- deliberate destruction of another's work
- false declaration of authenticity in relation to assessments
- impersonation.

These actions constitute malpractice, for which a penalty (eg disqualification from the assessment) will be applied.

Where suspected malpractice is identified by a centre after the candidate has signed the declaration of authentication, the Head of Centre must submit full details of the case to City & Guilds at the earliest opportunity. Please refer to the form in the document Managing cases of suspected malpractice in examinations and assessments. Alternatively, please complete the form, JCQ/M1. Copies of this form can be found on the JCQ website: <http://www.jcq.org.uk>

Access arrangements

We have taken note of the provisions of equalities legislation in developing and administering this specification.

We can make arrangements so that candidates with disabilities, special educational needs and temporary injuries can access the assessment. These arrangements must be made before assessment takes place.

It is the responsibility of the centre to ensure at the start of a programme of learning that candidates will be able to access the requirements of the qualification.

Please refer to the JCQ access arrangements and reasonable adjustments and Access arrangements - when and how applications need to be made to City & Guilds for more information. Both are available on the City & Guilds website: <http://www.cityandguilds.com/delivering-our-qualifications/centre-development/centre-document-library/policies-and-procedures/access-arrangements-reasonable-adjustments>

Special consideration

We can give special consideration to candidates who have had a temporary illness, injury or indisposition at the time of the examination. Where we do this, it is given after the examination.

Applications for either access arrangements or special consideration should be submitted to City & Guilds by the Examinations Officer at the centre. For more information please consult the current version of the JCQ document, A guide to the special consideration process.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to realise that there are many careers available for people wanting to work in the make-up industry, and the ones known are just the tip of the iceberg. The vast range of jobs available in the make-up industry are all connected by a similar passion of the love for make-up, hair and fashion.

Learners will build their knowledge and understanding of the make-up industry. The unit provides an opportunity to explore the factors that contribute to a successful career within the make-up industry and how the use of professional portfolio can be used to showcase to potential employers and at interviews.

Learners will explore the importance of safe working practices within the make-up industry and how to communicate effectively and build professional relationships.

This unit links and must be taught alongside all the technical units within the qualification, covering fundamental aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation. Therefore, you will need to refer to this unit when delivering each of the technical units.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- What jobs are available within the make-up industry?
- How do I go about setting up as a freelance make-up artist?
- How can social media benefit a make-up artist?
- How can I set up my own business within the make-up industry?
- What is a contra-indication?
- What are the three main methods of evaluating?
- What is a look book?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand the factors to be considered when progressing into the make-up industry
2. Understand the expectations of working within the make-up industry
3. Understand the factors to consider when preparing a make-up and hair application
4. Provide recommendations and evaluate the make-up and hair application.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

This unit links to all the technical units within the qualification, covering Health and Safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions and evaluation.

Learning outcome 1: Understand the factors to be considered when progressing into the make-up industry

Topics

- 1.1: Further progression routes
- 1.2: Types of employment, businesses and jobs
- 1.3: Legal requirements and insurance
- 1.4: Requirements of becoming a freelance make-up artist
- 1.5: Communication and team work

Topic 1.1

Learners will understand the progression routes available and further educational prospects, including:

- Continuous Professional Development (CPD) courses
- level 4 theatrical media make-up
- private training providers
- university degree/ diploma in related subject (or alternatively business or education)
- apprenticeships within film, TV and theatre.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand different types of employment including:

- employed status
- associate
- self-employed/freelance
- casual contract
- fixed term contract
- voluntary/charitable.

Learners will need to understand the different types of businesses including:

- sole trader (eg working from home or make-up studio)
- renting a room
- partnership
- limited company
- franchise.

Learners will need to understand the different types of jobs available as a hair and make-up artist within the following fields, including for example:

- TV
- film
- theatre

- fashion
- editorial
- commercial
- bridal
- hospitals (eg camouflage)
- teaching
- writing
- studio
- location
- publicity.

Topic 1.3

Learners will need to have knowledge and understanding of the following legislations and consider their influence to ensure safe working practices and protection for the business and models.

- Legislations:
 - The Health and Safety at Work Act
 - The Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations
 - The Health and Safety (First Aid) Regulations
 - The Personal Protective Equipment at Work Regulations
 - The Provision and Use of Work Equipment Regulations
 - The Control of Substances Hazardous to Health Regulations (COSHH)
 - The Reporting of Injuries, Diseases and Dangerous Occurrences Regulations (RIDDOR)
 - The Environmental Protection Act
 - Work Place Regulations (Health, Safety and Welfare)
 - The Electricity at Work Regulations
 - Fire Precautions Act
 - Fire Precautions (Workplace) Regulations
 - The Manual Handling Operations Regulations
 - The Employers Liability Act
 - The Working Times Regulations
 - The General Products Safety Regulations
 - The EU Cosmetics Directive
 - The Supply of Goods and Services Act
 - The Sale and Supply of Goods Act
 - The Consumer Protection Act
 - The Trade Descriptions Act
 - Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act
 - The Data Protection Act
 - The Equality Act.

Learners will need understand the importance of ensuring protection for the business, themselves and models, including:

- public liability
- product and service liability
- employer's liability
- business car insurance
- contents insurance
- building insurance
- disclaimer.

Topic 1.4

Learners will need to understand the following in relation to becoming a self-employed freelance make-up artist:

- registering with HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC)
- allowances and tax reliefs
- register your name with Companies House
- tax, national insurance, pension contribution
- business planning and cash flow forecasting
- keeping detailed and accurate records of your finances
- promotion (eg wedding fayres)
- register domain names (websites)
- business cards.

Topic 1.5

Learners need to understand that they must communicate and behave in a professional manner when working as a make-up artist.

Communicate:

- Speaking, listening, body language, reading, recording, following instructions, giving direction, negotiating, using a range of professional terminology.

Behave:

- Working as part of a team, professional etiquette, take into account the diverse needs of their models/performers, maintaining models' modesty.

Learners need to understand how verbal and non-verbal consultation techniques can be used to put the client at ease:

- Verbal
 - questioning techniques, language used and tone of voice
- Non-verbal
 - listening techniques, body language, eye contact, facial expressions

Learners will need to understand the importance of professional practice, for example:

- checking the model's wellbeing throughout the service
- ensuring environmental conditions are suitable for the model and the service
- using working methods that minimise the risk of cross-infection
- ensuring the use of clean equipment and materials
- leaving the service area and equipment in a suitable condition
- promoting environmental and sustainable working practices.

Learning outcome 2: Understand the expectations of working within the make-up industry

Topics

2.1: Working with others within the make-up industry

2.2: Production types

2.3: Production demands

2.4: Skills and attributes of a make-up artist

2.5: Benefits of social media

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to have an understanding of the different roles in the make-up industry and the importance working effectively with others as part of a team. Roles including:

- stylist
- hairdresser
- nail technician
- photographer
- runner
- editor
- model (eg the owner of the product)
- models
- producer
- director
- light technician
- music technician
- sound engineer
- floor manager
- choreographer
- set designer
- performers (eg musicians, actors and actresses)
- costume designer
- agents.

Topic 2.2

Learners will need to have an understanding of the different productions they might be required to work in.

- Productions types:
 - tv eg soap opera, talent shows
 - drama
 - documentary
 - location
 - films eg, comedy, sci-fi, fantasy, period
 - commercial eg advertising
 - photographic eg editorial, fashion
 - catwalk eg Avant-Garde
 - editorial
 - fashion.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to have an understanding of production demands and create their design ideas accordingly, this will include the following:

- Production demand:
 - discussion with design team, text analysis, design analysis, script breakdown, continuity, own interpretation of character role, budget, costings, equipment, lighting, costume designs, call sheets, safety issues, suitability of the design, performer considerations (eg face shape, facial characteristics; skin tone, skin type, skin colour, eye shape, gender, allergies, age), cast and crew list, shooting schedule, confidentiality, set etiquette.

Learners will need to consider the planning required in order to develop their design ideas and will need to be mindful of the following:

- attending scheduled meetings and rehearsals; working to timescales; understanding roles and responsibilities of others; taking instruction; taking meetings minutes; working as part of a team.

Topic 2.4

Learners will need to understand the skills and attributes required of a make-up artist including:

- time management
- reliability
- organisation
- forward planning
- flexibility
- troubleshooting
- professionalism
- creativity/imagination
- research and updated knowledge
- personal presentation
- etiquette
- confidentiality.

Topic 2.5

Learners will need to understand the different types of social media and the benefits of using them eg:

- types of social media eg:
 - facebook
 - twitter
 - instagram
 - linkedin
 - blogs
 - z-cards
 - you tube
 - dropbox
 - pintrest
 - modelmayhem.

- benefits of using social media eg:
 - self-promotion
 - creativity
 - reputation
 - networking
 - collaboration
 - marketing
 - research.

Learning outcome 3: Understand the factors to consider when preparing a make-up and hair application

Topics

- 3.1: Briefing techniques
- 3.2: Environmental and sustainable working practices
- 3.3: Contra-indications
- 3.4: Health and Safety working practices
- 3.5: Prepare themselves, work area and model

Topic 3.1

Learners will need to understand the correct briefing techniques to gain maximum results, including:

- the importance of communication with model in a professional manner
- how to complete a briefing taking into account the model's diverse needs
- the legal requirements for providing services to minors under 16 years of age
- the importance of agreeing the service and outcomes to meet the model's needs
- the legal requirements for storing and protecting model data if needed.

Briefing techniques: Learners will need to understand the verbal and non-verbal briefing techniques used to both put the model at ease, and collect the necessary information to facilitate a successful outcome and why this is important.

- verbal: questioning techniques, language used and tone of voice
- non-verbal: listening techniques, body language, eye contact, facial expressions
- use of: manual, visual and written.

Learners will need to understand the correct methods of completing records, the reasons for keeping these records, gaining model and make-up artist's signatures and the reasons for this, as well as how model information should be dealt with according to The Data Protection Act.

- Obtain written, signed informed consent from the model prior to carrying out the job
- Ensure that guardian or parent is present throughout the job for minors.

Learners will need to understand how to deal with a range of diverse model will needs both sensitively and safely, understanding why models should not be discriminated against cultural, religious, age, disability and gender.

Topic 3.2

Learners will need to understand the different types of working methods that promote environmental and sustainable working practices:

- Environmental: temperature, ventilation, location
- Sustainable: minimising pollution, reducing and managing waste, reducing energy usage

Learners will need to have an understanding of the legislation linked to the environmental conditions within the workplace, as well as the implications for a more comfortable and safer service.

The Environmental Protection Act – Environmental and sustainable working practices; reducing waste and managing waste (recycle, reuse, safe disposal) reducing energy usage (energy efficient equipment, low energy lighting, utilising solar panels), reducing water usage and other resources, preventing pollution, using disposable items, using recycled, eco-friendly furniture, using low chemical paint, using environmentally friendly product packaging, choosing responsible domestic products (Fairtrade tea and coffee), encouraging carbon reducing journeys to work.

Topic 3.3

Learners will need to be able to recognise the contra-indications to the service, understand why they are a contra-indication and know the action to take in each case. They will also need to understand why specific contra-indications should not be named when referring models to a general practitioner.

Learners will need to understand:

- the contra-indications requiring medical referral and why
- how to recognise contra-indications that would prevent or restrict the service
 - Prevent service: severe viral, bacterial and fungal infections, cross-infestations and cross infections
 - Restrict service: cuts and abrasions, recent scar tissue, skin disorders, skin allergies, product allergies.
- the necessary actions to take in relation to specific contra-indications when referring models
- how to encourage the model to seek medical advice
- how to explain why the service cannot be carried out
- any modification/adaptation of service as applicable.

Topic 3.4

Learners will need to understand Health and Safety working practices.

Learners must have knowledge and understanding of industry specific, national and local authority licensing regulations relevant to the service, themselves and the premises.

Learners will need to understand:

- organisational requirements
- personal hygiene, protection and appearance to meet accepted industry and organisational requirements
- positioning of all equipment and products for ease and safety of use
- repetitive strain injury, how it is caused and how to avoid developing it as a result of the application of individual semi-permanent eyelashes
- removal of accessories
- positioning model and self comfortably and safely for the service
- maintaining accepted industry hygiene and safety practices throughout the service
- leaving the service area and equipment in a suitable condition
- carrying out a sensitivity test if necessary
- following manufacturer's instructions
- different methods of sterilisation, disposal of contaminated and non-contaminated waste
- local by-laws specific to the service being conducted

- the hazards and risks which exist in the workplace and the safe working practices that must be followed
- the importance of carrying out a risk assessment:
 - reasons for carrying out a risk assessment in the salon, understanding when a risk assessment will need to be carried out and by whom, identification of possible risks and hazards, identification of how to complete a risk assessment, knowing the actions to be taken following completion of the risk assessment.

Learners will need to understand the importance of skin sensitivity testing prior to the application of products, including the following:

- the reasons for carrying out skin sensitivity tests
- the importance of following manufacturer instructions
- the procedure for carrying out skin sensitivity tests prior to application
- the importance of recording the results.

Learners will need to understand that a sensitivity test must include adhesive and remover.

Topic 3.5

Learners will need to understand the correct preparation for themselves, the model and the work area in a practical setting:

- to meet organisational requirements
- to meet manufacturer's instructions
- to meet legislation and safety requirements, including PPE
- to ensure personal hygiene, protection and appearance meets accepted industry and organisational requirements
- to ensure all tools and equipment are disinfected or sterilised using the correct method
- to position all equipment and products for ease and safety of use
- to position the model for comfort.

Learning outcome 4: Provide recommendations and evaluate the make-up and hair application

Topics

4.1: Provide recommendations

4.2: Evaluate for effectiveness of make-up and hair application

Topic 4.1

Learners will need to be able to understand the correct recommendations following a make-up and/or hair service, including:

- how to maintain make-up and hair look:
 - re-application of make-up and/or hair products
- safe removal methods.

Learners will need to be able to recognise the difference between normal contra- actions and adverse contra-actions including those which are a result of poor practice.

A normal contra-action can be touch sensitive therefore techniques and products selection will need to be adapted accordingly throughout the service.

Learners will need to understand the action which should be taken if any of them occur either during or after the work.

- Contra-actions:
 - Stinging – remove product apply cold compress, wait for the stinging to subside, re-apply using different products. If the contra-action persists seek medical advice.
 - Watery eyes – adapt product and application techniques. If the contra-action persists seek medical advice.
 - Stinging eyes – remove product around the area, apply an eye bath if required. If the contra-action persists seek medical advice.
 - Erythema – remove product, apply cold compress, if appropriate cover erythema with camouflage make-up and continue the service. If the contra-action persists seek medical advice.
 - Allergic reactions – remove product, apply cold compress, if persists seek medical advice.

Topic 4.2: Learners will need to be able to evaluate their work as part of reflective practice to form recommendation for improvements and professional development.

Methods of evaluating:

- Visual
- Verbal
- written feedback
- repeat business.

Guidance for delivery

It is recommended centres build links with outside companies who can be involved to provide educational talks about the developments and current trends within the make-up industry.

This unit links to unit 302 'The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio' where learners are expected to produce a look book for each of their practical design ideas.

As an introduction, it may be useful to split the learners into pairs or small groups to research current job opportunities and progression routes within the media make-up industry.

Learners should be encouraged to research current make-up trends independently, therefore they will also require guidance on how to research and how to document their findings.

Some of the activities will require group work but each learner will need to be given the opportunity to be the leader of the group.

Develop links with other departments would allow to gain maximum delivery results for example asking the IT department to deliver a lesson on on-line social media, asking the photography department to deliver a lesson on lighting and backdrops; asking a bank to give learners a talk on becoming self-employed and the requirements needed.

It would be beneficial to ask previous successful learners to return and give a talk about their progression and experience at university or work environment to explore the range of opportunities within the make-up industry.

Learners should be encouraged to get involved with work experience at local theatres, make-up studios etc.

It would be useful to arrange educational tours of local film studios, make-up studios, theatres etc.

Unit 302

The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio

UAN:	R/507/4767
Level:	3
GLH:	30

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to gain an understanding into how to develop and present a look book as well as their industry portfolio.

A look book will be able to communicate and demonstrate learners' progression from the initial design stage through to the finished article. This will be achieved by the collection of visual resources that will allow learners to gather ideas to then develop them into their own 'look'.

This unit will allow learners to develop their research skills and gain an understanding into production demands and how these may influence their design choices for the development of look books and industry portfolio.

Drawing development is key for learners to express their own visual interpretation of ideas. During the unit learners will accumulate drawing skills using different methods and techniques.

This unit will encourage learners to develop their communication and presentation skills in order to transfer and present the information effectively.

Learning how to develop a portfolio is a key aspect as in the real world of work make-up artists will be expected to take their industry portfolio with them to interviews for productions, TV, films, editorial etc.

As part of the delivery of this unit, learners are expected to collate pictorial evidence of their total looks throughout the year to then select their best work to present it in their industry portfolio that will be pulled together at the end of the qualification.

This unit links to all technical units and must be taught alongside all the technical units within the qualification, covering primary and secondary research to aid the development of design ideas for the creation of a look book. Therefore, you will need to refer to this unit when delivering each of the technical units.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- How is a look book developed?
- When would I use a look book?
- What is an industry portfolio?
- What is primary and secondary research?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand how to research for design ideas
2. Create look books and an industry portfolio.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

This unit links to all technical units and must be taught alongside.

Learning outcome 1: Understand how to research for design ideas

1.1: Primary research

1.2: Secondary research

Learners will need to understand the available methods of research to create and develop their design ideas.

Topic 1.1

Primary research consists of a collection of original primary data collected by the researcher.

Learners will need to understand the principles of primary research, to include the use of:

- personal experience such as childhood memories, films watched and books read, the stereotypical image of given characters (eg a panto dame)
- the use of personal experiences makes a design the creator's own and generates original work.

Topic 1.2

Secondary research involves gathering existing data that has already been produced, for example Internet, magazines and books.

Learners will need to use a number of sources in order to gain ideas for their design. It is recommended they use the following:

- internet – Pinterest, Instagram
- books – recommended at the end
- films and television
- music videos
- magazines
- exhibitions
- museums
- art galleries
- photographs
- fashion designers
- celebrity hair and make-up artists.

Learning outcome 2: Create look books and an industry portfolio

Topics

2.1: The reasons for using look books and an industry portfolio

2.2: How to create a look book of designs

2.3: Develop a look book of designs

2.4: How to create and develop an industry portfolio

Topic 2.1

Learners need to understand that make-up artists need to present their look book to the client to gain feedback and confirmation on whether the client's needs were met, which could lead into adaptation if required.

Learners will need to understand the fundamental importance of a professional industry portfolio and how this will enhance employability and progression into higher education as well as progression within the industry.

The portfolio is a means to showcase the make-up artist versatility, creativity, technical skills including both hair and make-up for different contexts such as commercial, high fashion, editorial, TV and films. The portfolio will show what the make-up artist is capable of creating as well as the extent of their work and skills.

Learners will need to understand when professional portfolios will be used including the following:

- job interview
- competition
- fashion show
- TV and film
- theatre
- commercial (eg video, advertising)
- editorial
- university application.

Topic 2.2

Learners will need to understand that when working within the make-up industry they will be provided with a design brief which will require the development of design ideas to be showcased into a look book.

Learners need to understand that the following information must be included in the look book:

- Look book:
 - collage of research ideas (mood board)
 - samples of materials and textures
 - face chart, head and shoulder chart, full body chart
 - sketches
 - list of equipment
 - list of products
 - costings
 - justification on choices of specific products and equipment
 - use of hair products and make-up products
 - test shots
 - pictures of final design
 - evaluation.

Learners will need to consider the use of chalks, oil pastels, pencils, pens, charcoal, markers, paint which can enhance the appearance of the design ideas within the look book.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to be able to develop a look book of designs for each of the total looks created within all technical units, taking into consideration the following:

- design brief
- hair and make-up techniques
- skin type, hair type of model
- skin colour, hair colour of model
- face shape, eye shape, eyebrow shape and features
- age and gender of model
- products, tools equipment
- context, themes,
- environmental conditions
- any corrective work.

NOTE: Each of the technical units will specifically state the relevant range required to cover the unit content.

Topic 2.4

Learners will need to understand how to develop an industry portfolio both electronically and manually including:

- images
 - landscape
 - portrait
 - colour
 - black and white
 - head shot
 - full body shot
- testimonials (eg from work experience)
- CV (Personal profile).

Learners will need to understand that Images must not be edited using filters or airbrush.

NOTE: In order to meet this topic learners will need to collate pictorial evidence throughout the year of their looks and the end select the best range of their choice (either electronically or manually).

Guidance for delivery

The unit must be delivered alongside all units during the academic year. At the start of the course, it would benefit the learners to gain a clear understanding into the type of content that should be included in their look books. It would be useful for learners to be shown an example of how a look book can be used to realise the industry expectations.

For comparison purposes, learners could be shown various examples of look books demonstrating different levels of expertise. In discussion the learners will be able to analyse and evaluate their findings.

Learners should have access to a range of resources in order to develop their research skills and gain design ideas.

Look books include evidence of research, photographs, videos (step-by-step and final looks) working journals, face charts, head and shoulder charts, samples of materials and textures, observation feedback sheets and evaluations.

It is recommended that regular checks are carried out on learners look books and constructive feedback should be given in order to allow learners to advance and show progression during the qualification.

In order for learners to gain an insight into a real working environment, employer engagement is encouraged to get the most out of their learning experience. Centres should build relationships and links with local theatres, production companies, television studios and other related departments. Collaborative working with other departments and learners across college is encouraged.

Talks from universities and practice interview sessions would be beneficial for learners to gain an insight into what would be required if they wish to progress into Higher Education.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to have an insight to the fashion and photographic industry which runs at a fast pace, requiring stamina, self-motivation, team work and creativity.

Learners will be shown different make-up application techniques, as well as exploring the demand from different themes and contexts that would have an impact on the final look.

Learners will need to explore the different application techniques on a variety of models creating looks that will meet the fashion and photographic industry desires, as well as taking into consideration factors that can affect the application of facial contouring, such as face shapes, eye, nose, lips, skin types and condition.

Learners will realise how colour theory and correction are linked to the make-up application.

This unit also gives an introduction to the effects of different lighting, the types of backdrops available and how this can affect the choice of application of fashion and photographic make-up.

Both units 301 and 302 must be delivered alongside this unit, covering key aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and an industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- What is the importance of colour theory in fashion and photographic industry?
- What are the differences in creating an editorial look compared to a fashion show?
- What is the difference in colour and black and white photography?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand factors affecting the application of facial contouring
2. Apply fashion and photographic make-up
3. Capture a photographic image.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

Learning outcome 1: Understand factors affecting the application of facial contouring

Topics

- 1.1: Face shapes
- 1.2: Eye, nose and lips shapes
- 1.3: Skin types and conditions
- 1.4: Colour theory and correction

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to understand how to differentiate between different face shapes by visual observation when working with a range of models, and adaptations that may be required when applying make-up to include the following:

- oval
- oblong
- square
- round
- triangle/heart.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand how to differentiate among different eye, nose and lips shapes by visual observation when working with a range of models, and adaptations that may be required when applying make-up to include the following:

- eyes
 - oriental
 - small
 - round
 - deep set
 - close set
 - wide set
 - overhanging
 - prominent
- nose
 - broad
 - short
 - long
 - crooked
- lips
 - lines around lips
 - thick upper lip
 - thick lower lip
 - thin
 - small
 - uneven.

Topic 1.3

Learners will need to understand how to differentiate among different skin types, conditions and tones by visual observation when working with a range of models, and adaptations that may be required to include the following:

- skin types
 - dry
 - oily
 - combination
 - normal
- conditions
 - mature
 - dehydrated
 - sensitive
- tone
 - warm
 - cool
 - neutral.

Learners will also need to take into account different ethnicity in relation to skin types, conditions and tones and understand how to adapt the use of different products and techniques to gain maximum results.

Topic 1.4

Learners will need to understand the importance of colour theory and colour correction, which is fundamental aspect when applying make-up, including the following:

- the principles of colour
 - primary
 - secondary
 - tertiary
 - quaternary
- light waves
- quality of colour
 - hue
 - intensity and luminosity
 - saturation
 - value and tone
- colour schemes
 - monochromatic
 - complimentary/harmonious
 - analogous
 - triadic
- colour correction
 - green
 - yellow
 - lilac
 - orange/ peach.

Learning outcome 2: Apply fashion and photographic make-up

Topics

- 2.1: Application techniques
- 2.2: Products, tools and equipment
- 2.3: Themes and context
- 2.4: Create fashion and photographic make-up to include:
 - application
 - removal.

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to understand the different application techniques used within fashion and photographic make-up industry.

Learners will need to understand that the following techniques can be applied and created in different ways to suit the design brief, model's needs as well as the use of their own creativity.

The application techniques include the following:

- contouring
 - shading
 - highlighting
- blending
- blocking out of eyebrow
- colour blocking
- graphic liner
- eyebrow definition
- ombré
- lip definition
- false lash application
- ornamentation application eg glitter, jewellery, gems, feathers, flowers, leaves
- gold leaf and face lace
- eyeshadow techniques eg cut crease, smokey, socket line, colour blending
- black and white
- two toned
- wet look
- stenciling.

Being a make-up artist and working in the industry will also mean that learners will explore new ways to apply the following techniques.

Topic 2.2

Learners will need to understand the different types of products available to create a fashion and photographic make-up. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the model's needs, skin type and condition and adapt accordingly.

Product to include the following:

- products
 - cleanser
 - hand sanitisers

- moisturiser
- cleansing wipes
- primer
- illuminating creams
- balms
- bb and cc creams
- skin correctors/diffusers
- concealers
- colour correctors
- bronzer
- foundations
- powders
- highlighters/shaders
- eye shadows
- mascara
- eyebrow make-up
- blushers
- eye pencils
- lip pencils
- lipsticks
- lip gloss
- false eyelashes
- coloured cosmetics
- petroleum jelly
- powders
- other texturising materials
- latex
- glycerine
- spirit gum
- mixing medium
- barrier cream
- minerals
- aqua colour
- clay
- grease paint
- coloured inks
- modelling wax
- brush cleaner
- make-up removers
- adhesive
- adhesive remover.

Learners will also will need to understand the key effects and benefits of the textures from each of the products used in order to achieve the desired effect, in relation to setting, lighting, location, skin type and conditions, to include the following:

- textures

- gel
- mousse
- wax
- liquid
- cream
- powder
- high definition.

Learners will need to understand the use of tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the look to achieve and application techniques, to include the following:

- tools and equipment
 - brushes
 - sponges
 - tweezers
 - head band
 - eyelash curlers
 - velour puffs
 - modelling tools
 - mixing palette
 - spatula
 - make-up cape
 - mirrors
 - towels
 - chair
 - brush holder
 - bin
 - scissors
- disposables
 - cotton buds
 - tissues/ couch roll
 - cotton wool
 - disposable applicators
 - disposable spatulas
 - gloves.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to explore different looks within the following media, understanding how different they can be because of the different demand:

- high fashion
- commercial
- editorial
- catwalk
- fashion shows
- photographic
- tv
- film

- high definition make-up.

Looks can comprise the following themes for example:

- pop art
- glamorous
- portrait
- fantasy
- futuristic
- under water
- space
- circus
- rain forest.

Topic 2.4

Learner will need to be able to apply fashion and photographic make-up including the following:

- developing the look based on the design brief (as covered in unit 302 'The creation and Presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio')
- *carrying out briefing techniques
- *following Health and Safety
- *preparing self, work area and model
- taking into account the factors affecting the application of facial contouring covered in topic 1.1 to 1.4
- selecting and using the products, tools and equipment to achieve the desired look
- apply a fashion and photographic make-up
- removing (and maintaining if required) the make-up application including the use of cleansers and adhesive removers
- *providing recommendations to the model and evaluating the make-up application.

*As covered in unit 301 'Working in the film, TV and theatre industry'.

Learning outcome 3: Capture a photographic image

3.1: Effects of different lighting

3.2: Types of backdrops

3.3: Take a range of photos

Topic 3.1

Learners will need to understand how different lighting affects the choice and application of fashion and photographic make-up to include the following:

- lighting
 - day light ie morning, afternoon
 - evening light

- studio eg colour temperature, use of gels/filters, light shapers, lighting balance to control image contrast, flash photography
- incandescent
- fluorescent.

Topic 3.2

Learners will need to understand the types of backdrops available and how they can enhance the overall look.

- backdrops to include
 - black
 - white
 - colour
 - pattern
 - location.

Green screen

Topic 3.3

Learners will need to be able to capture a variety of photographic images of make-up looks:

- landscape
- portrait
- black and white
- colour
- head shot
- full body shot.

Guidance for delivery

This unit should be taught integrating all the make-up techniques to create a fashion photographic look not just technique by technique.

Letting the learners create their own ideas and adaptations, keeping away from learners copying pictures as own ideas and inspiration is essential.

It is encouraged to provide industry talks by outside companies discussing the development of current trends in the make-up industry.

Looking at current icons within the music and fashion industries to see what make-up they are wearing; visiting a photographic studio so that learners can have a real chance to see how it all works behind the camera. Arranging for learners to go out on location and apply the make-up and style hair out of the class room environment so they can get a true experience of what it would be like in the industry.

Learners will need guidance on how to research and how to document their findings, this can then be added to their look book.

Learners should produce a mood board for each idea researched so progression of achieved look is evidenced.

A total look is always recommended, including hair, make-up, costume and props that complement each other.

Learners will need to gain an understanding into the editing available to include airbrushing and filtering of photographic images. Exhibitions, fashion shows or museum enrichment trips would link well to this unit to give learners an insight into the fashion photographic make-up.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to be able to experiment with hair and materials in an innovative way, allowing learners to use their inspiration and ideas to create hairstyles that depict eras, characters and shapes.

Learners will need to have a basic knowledge of hairstyling skills and be able to create basic hair up styles along with some wet styling such as blow-drying and setting.

To complete this unit learners must be able to carry out a variety of looks using different techniques and material, and recognise when this may be used within the hair and media make-up industry.

Learners will need to understand and be able to follow a design brief. This is the opportunity to go far with imagination, experimenting with different hairstyling techniques. Covering things such as creating shapes with the use of padding, weaving, the use of different materials, ornamentation and techniques.

Exploring how hairstyling over the years has developed and allowing to experiment in order create hairstyles for different types of media.

This unit can prepare learners for competition work, theatrical work and creative mythical work, photographic, television and film work.

Both units 301 and 302 must be delivered alongside this unit, covering key aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and an industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- When are the styling and setting techniques mostly used for creative hair design?
- What are the differences between styling and finishing products?
- What types of ornamentation can be used for creative hair design?
- What factors may need consideration when creating a hair design for different purposes?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand how to achieve creative hair design
2. Produce creative hairstyles.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

It is expected that learners will have basic hairdressing skills to be able to carry out the practical activities in order to achieve this unit.

Good communication skills are essential when carrying out a consultation with the model and gaining information from the director with regards to styling expectations.

Reliability and professionalism is required throughout this unit.

Learning outcome 1: Understand how to achieve creative hair design

Topics

- 1.1: Influencing factors for creative hair design
- 1.2: Products, tools and equipment for creative hair design
- 1.3: Methods of styling and setting

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to understand the influencing factors to consider when planning for a hair design, the logical sequence of the approach to the creation of the hairstyle and the adaptation required depending on the following:

- influencing factors
 - hair movement
 - hair texture and density
 - length
 - hair growth patterns
 - head shape/face shapes/features
 - design brief requirements.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand the different types of products available to produce a creative hairstyle. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the design brief and the model's hair type and condition and how to adapt accordingly.

Products to include the following:

- styling products
 - mousse, setting lotion, heat protection, gel spray
- finishing products
 - serum, wax, gel, dressing cream, volumising and texturing powder hair spray, shine spray.

Learners will need to understand the use of tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the hairstyle to achieve and the application techniques.

- tools and equipment
 - combs
 - section clips
 - gown
 - hair dryer
 - brushes
 - straightener
 - tong/wand
 - rollers
 - water spray
 - pin curl clips
 - hairgrips
 - hair pins
 - padding/shapes
 - polystyrene
 - synthetic hair
 - nets
 - a variety of ornamentation
 - setting tools and equipment to match desired style eg
 - wire
 - pencil
 - metal objects that are heat resistant.

Topic 1.3

Learners will need to understand the different methods and techniques used when styling and setting, when to use them according to the model's hair type and condition and the hair style to achieve from the design brief using the following:

- methods
 - curling
 - setting curls
 - woven effects
 - rolling/plaiting/ twisting
 - blending
 - Rick Racking
 - back combing
 - blow-drying
 - incorporating ornamentation
 - alternative setting using tools and equipment (as stated in Topic 1.2)
 - securing.

Learning outcome 2: Produce creative hairstyles

Topics

2.1: Select products, tools and equipment

2.2: Create hair styles using styling and setting methods

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to be able to select the correct products, tools and equipment in order to produce the desired hair style and maximise the result of the final look as covered in topic 1.2.

Topic 2.2

Learner will need to be able to create hair styles including the following:

- developing the look based on the design brief (as covered in unit 302 'The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio')
- *carrying out briefing techniques
- *following Health and Safety
- *preparing self, work area and model
- taking into account the factors affecting the creative hair design as covered in topic 1.1
- selecting and using the products, tools and equipment to achieve the desired hairstyle
- styling the hair using styling and setting methods
- deconstructing the hairstyle
- *providing recommendations to the model and evaluating the creative hairstyle.

*As covered in unit 301 'Working in the film, TV and theatre industry'.

Guidance for delivery

This unit will be delivered as a practical based unit in a practical setting. A variety of hairstyles will need to be taught and practised.

Pictures can be given out of creative hairstyling and learners can work out in pairs how they think they were created and then set about recreating on each other. This should give them inspiration to design their own hairstyle in an original and creative way.

Visits to fashion shows, exhibitions and theatrical shows will also spark creativity as the ability to think outside the box and design something original is key to success in the industry.

As always, encouraging learners to work with different partners pushes their comfort zone and develops confidence with different types and lengths of hair.

The use of mood boards and design briefs should be used to inspire the learners to be innovative and be able to explore concepts and ideas in a creative way.

We are looking for originality from this unit and not to see a lot of duplicate hairstyles from various sources. Drawing from their own inspiration and adding ideas from other research is what learners should be aiming for.

Tuition heads (blocks) can be used for delivery and practice and learners should be creating total looks on their live models and incorporating other units.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to explore in detail make-up, hairstyles and fashion trends throughout the ages. Learners will have the opportunity to practically apply their findings and create different historical looks.

Understanding and creating an historical look is an essential skill for a make-up artist. Aspects of historical looks are not only required for the theatre, TV or film industry but are now becoming a modern-day trend. In this unit, learners will be studying make-up, hair and fashion looks from as far back as the Ancient Egyptians to the present day.

Learners will have the opportunity to discover some key historical ages and may choose to study particular ages in greater depth. Understanding the evolution of cosmetic products and fashion is another important aspect that will be visited in this unit. Learners will develop skills in producing clear design plans in order to communicate and present their ideas to others. Learners will study how to analyse character roles in order to create the intended look.

In order to create different period looks, experimentation of using different products and techniques is a key element to the practical side of this unit. In addition, the application of wigs and hair pieces will need to be visited in this unit as it is difficult to recreate a realistic look without having a basic understanding of these skills.

Both units 301 and 302 must be delivered alongside this unit, covering key aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- How will the skills I develop from this unit be transferable in the theatre, television, film, modelling and other relevant industries?
- How will having an in-depth knowledge of not only make-up historical looks, but hairstyling and fashion, help me advance as a make-up artist?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand how historical make-up, hairstyles and fashion trends have changed through the eras
2. Understand the range of products used to create historical hair and make-up looks

3. Apply techniques and skills to create historical hair and make-up looks.

Scope of content

This section provides details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

It may benefit the learners to have prior knowledge in make-up and hair skills before starting this unit, therefore it is recommended for centres to deliver units 303 and 304 prior to the delivery of this unit.

Learning outcome 1: Understand how historical make-up, hairstyles and fashion trends have changed through the eras

Topics

1.1: Looking through the eras

1.2: Social and cultural influences

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to explore the following eras and how they differ in terms of make-up, hairstyles and trends:

- eras
 - ancient Egyptians
 - Renaissance 14th – 17th century
 - Elizabethan
 - 18th Century
 - Victorian
 - Edwardians
 - 20s, 30s, 40s, 50s, 60s, 70s, 80s, 90s, 00s

In each era listed above learners are expected to explore the following in order to understand how make-up, hairstyles and trends have changed:

- iconic figures eg Twiggy, Marilyn Monroe, Elvis Presley, James Dean, Audrey Hepburn, Marlene Dietrich
- films and TV shows of a particular era
- hairstyle
- make-up
- fashion
- relationship of fashion styles to cultural trends eg 'The Space Age', 'Punk', 'Glam Rock', 'Grunge'
- how styles influence the catwalk
- influence of art movements on fashion developments eg Diaghilev's Ballets Russes, Cubism, Surrealism, space exploration of the 1960s and 70s, Op Art (Optical Art), Pop Art.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand how make-up, hair and fashion styles can differ according to a person's social and cultural background. This will be based on the following:

- social and cultural influences
 - status
 - ethnic origin
 - class system (working, middle and upper class)

- age group
- role and position within society
- casual and formal dress
- gender.

Learning outcome 2: Understand the range of products used to create historical hair and make-up looks

Topics

2.1: Make-up products, tools and equipment

2.2: Hair products, tools and equipment

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to understand the different types of make-up products available to create historical make-up.

Learners will need to understand which make-up products to select depending on the model's needs, skin type and condition and how to adapt accordingly. Products to include the following:

- make-up products
 - cleanser
 - hand sanitisers
 - moisturiser
 - make-up removers
 - cleansing wipes
 - brush cleaner primer
 - illuminating creams
 - balms
 - bb and cc creams
 - skin correctors/diffusers
 - concealers
 - colour correctors
 - bronzer
 - foundations
 - highlighters/shaders
 - eye shadows
 - mascara
 - eyebrow make-up
 - blushers
 - eye pencils
 - lip pencils
 - lipsticks
 - lip gloss
 - false eyelashes
 - coloured cosmetics
 - petroleum jelly
 - powders
 - other texturising materials
 - latex

- glycerine
- spirit gum
- mixing medium
- barrier cream
- minerals
- aqua colour
- clay
- grease paint
- coloured inks
- modelling wax
- adhesive
- adhesive remover
- instant tan.

Learners will need to understand the use of make-up tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the historical era to achieve and application techniques. Tools and equipment to include the following:

- make-up tools and equipment
 - brushes
 - sponges
 - tweezers
 - eyelash curlers
 - velour puffs
 - modelling tools
 - mixing palette
 - spatula
 - make-up cape
 - mirrors
 - towels
 - chair
 - brush holder
 - bin
 - scissors
- disposables
 - cotton buds
 - cotton wool
 - tissues/ couch roll
 - disposable applicators
 - disposable spatulas
 - gloves.

Topic 2.2

Learners will need to understand the different types of hair products available to create historical looks.

Learners will need to understand which hair products to select depending on the model's needs, hair type and condition and how to adapt accordingly. Products to include the following:

- styling
 - mousse
 - setting lotion
 - heat protection
 - gel spray
 - styling spray
- finishing
 - gel
 - wax
 - serum
 - dressing cream
 - hairspray
 - shine spray
 - volumising and texturing powder.

Learners will need to understand the use of hair tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the historical era to achieve and application techniques. Tools and equipment to include the following:

- hair tools and equipment
 - blow-drying brush
 - vent brush
 - back combing
 - circular brushes
 - paddle brushes
 - combs
 - afro comb
 - sectioning clips
 - rollers for wet setting
 - iron, hot brush
 - tongs
 - velcro rollers for dry setting
 - hair pins
 - hair grips
 - pin curling clips
 - hair bands
 - straighteners
 - heated rollers
 - hairdryer
 - crimping and waving tongs
 - scissors
 - padding/shapes
 - ornamentation
 - hair pieces
 - wigs.

Learning outcome 3: Apply techniques and skills to create historical hair and make-up looks

Topics

3.1: Historical feature make-up and hair techniques

3.2: Apply historical hair and make-up looks

Topic 3.1

Learners will need to explore specific hair and make-up techniques that relate to different historical eras. The following techniques need to be covered:

- make-up techniques
 - lips
 - bee sting lip shape
 - rosebud mouths
 - bowed lips
 - cupid's bow
 - eyebrows
 - thin rounded
 - blocking out
 - thick bushy brows
 - arched
 - angled
 - eyes
 - eyeliner flicks
 - cut crease eye shadow technique
 - smokey eye shadow technique
 - false lashes
 - drawing of lashes
 - coloured mascara
 - kohl rimmed eyeliner
 - heavy top and bottom eye make-up
 - highlighting and contouring
 - tattoos eg stencil, transfer, free hand
- hair techniques
 - finger waves
 - pin curls
 - horizontal rolls eg chignon
 - vertical rolls eg French pleat
 - beehive eg 1960s
 - men's quiff
 - back combing
 - ornamentation
 - crimping
 - colouring
 - mohican
 - flick
 - mullet

- braids
- hair extensions.

Topic 3.2

Learners will need to be able to create historical looks covering the eras, make-up and hair techniques covered in topic 1.1 and 3.1 including the following:

- developing the historical hair and make-up look based on the design brief (as covered in unit 302 'The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio')
- *carrying out briefing techniques
- *following Health and Safety
- *preparing self, work area and model
- selecting and using the hair and make-up products, tools and equipment covered in outcome 2 in order to achieve the desired look
- applying make-up and hair techniques
- removing the make-up application and deconstructing the hairstyle
- *providing recommendations to the model and evaluating the creation of the historical total look.

*As covered in unit 301 'Working in the film, TV and theatre industry' unit.

Guidance for delivery

In order to deliver this unit effectively, a wide range of teaching methods are required, such as workshops, demonstrations, lectures, discussions, use of visual aids such as watching television, films and productions that may be a suitable source of information, learner practical experimentation, peer assessment and outside guest speakers.

Learners will fully develop their research skills, using a variety of sources in order to gain a clear picture of how make-up, hairstyles and fashion trends have been influenced through the years.

Learners will need guidance on how to produce detailed design plans in order to communicate their ideas and gain an understanding into analysing make-up looks for which the purpose of the make-up and hair is intended.

The focus is for the learner to put their design ideas into practice to create total looks showing techniques and skills they have learnt during the delivery of the unit. Practical application should be carried out on others. However, some looks can be simulated on dolls heads and themselves.

Where possible, the delivery should be taught in chronological order of each era focusing on make-up, hair and fashion looks. In addition, learners will show their creative flair by interpreting historical looks based on modern day trends.

In order to create a realistic interpretation, it would be advisable for centres to have a selection of ready-made historical wigs that can be used to complete the historical total look.

Learners should be encouraged to produce a look book of historical looks dating back to the century, this can be used as a reference for the rest of their career.

Along with tutor feedback, learners will analyse and evaluate their performance throughout the unit in order to advance their ability and develop their skills.

It may benefit learners to have prior knowledge in basic make-up and hair skills before starting this unit, therefore it is recommended for centres to deliver units 303 and 304 prior to the delivery of this unit.

This unit could be linked to others such as unit 311 'The evolution of cosmetics and retail'.

Unit 306

Apply body art

UAN:	Y/507/4771
Level:	3
GLH:	60

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to design and apply face and body art.

The knowledge and practical skills achieved in this unit include research and design for face and body art make-up application, both manual and airbrush techniques.

Learners will need to appreciate that working in this fast-paced industry as a make-up artist can be both exciting and nerve-racking. Whether covering catwalk shows or photographic shoots, you may find that you work under the direction of a chief designer, with a specific vision of how the body art should look, or you may be in a position to plan, devise and apply the make-up yourself.

With the advances in digital media, airbrushed make-up is the finish of choice for a glowing and flawless face. Airbrushing is a liquid form of make-up sprayed on at very low pressure, leaving behind a seamless layer of colour. The high coverage but thin texture results in a natural, sheer end result.

Both units 301 and 302 must be delivered alongside this unit, covering key aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- Where did body art originate from?
- What products are used within airbrush make-up?
- What is masking?
- What is scarification?
- How do you use airbrush equipment?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand historical and cultural influences of body art
2. Apply face and body art design.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

Learning outcome 1: Understand historical and cultural influences of body art

Topics

1.1: Influences of body art:

- Historical
- Cultural

1.2: The use of body art

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to understand the historical and cultural influences of body art from Aboriginal to current day including:

- historical influences
 - Africa
 - Europe
 - Asia
 - Australia
- cultural influences
 - scarification
 - motifs
 - tribal
 - Chinese writing
 - Henna
 - cicatrisation.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand the reasons for body art application and how therefore they can look so different, including the following:

- bravery
- origin
- symbol of power
- beauty
 - fashion
 - trends
- belief
 - protect from spirits
 - brings fertility.

Learning outcome 2: Apply face and body art design

Topics

2.1: Products, tools, equipment

- 2.2: Themes for face and body art
- 2.3: Airbrush and body art techniques
- 2.4: Clean and maintain airbrush equipment

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to understand the different types of products available required for face body art design. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the design brief, model's needs, skin type and condition and adapt accordingly.

Products to include the following:

- cleansers
- toners
- moisturisers
- concealers
- primer
- airbrush colours (silicone, water, oil and polymer)
- coloured inks
- water based paints
- oil based paints
- aqua paints
- body gems
- glitter
- sequins
- transfer tattoos and other adornment
- nipples covers
- airbrush cleaner
- distilled water
- Isopropyl alcohol
- sequins
- adornment
- gold leaf
- latex
- adhesive
- adhesive remover

Learners will need to understand the use of tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the required face and body art design and application techniques.

Tools and equipment include the following:

- brushes
- sponges
- stencils
- templates
- palette
- spatula
- make-up cape
- brushes

- disposable applicators
- air brush compressor
- airbrush gun
- disposables
 - cotton buds
 - tissues/ couch roll
 - cotton wool
 - disposable applicators
 - disposable spatulas
 - gloves
 - disposable underwear
 - disposable mask.

Topic 2.2

Learners will need to explore different themes in order to create a range of different looks using a variety of airbrush and body art techniques. Themes such as:

- fantasy
- tribal
- futuristic
- under water
- outer space
- flowers
- statues.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to understand how to apply airbrush and body art techniques including all of the following:

- airbrush techniques
 - masking
 - corrective
 - stencils
 - blending
 - contouring
 - back bubbling
 - shading
 - highlighting
- body art techniques
 - colour washing
 - free hand
 - stencils
 - shading
 - highlighting
 - stippling
 - splatting
 - dry brushing
 - single, double and multi-layering

- texturising.

Learners will need to be able to apply face and body art on the following areas:

- areas to be covered
 - torso
 - limbs
 - face and neck.

Learners will need to be able to apply all of the airbrush and body art techniques listed in topic 2.3 and covering all of the themes listed in the topic 2.2 including the following:

- developing the body art look based on the design brief (as covered in unit 302 'The creation and presentation of a look book and an industry portfolio')
- *carrying out briefing techniques
- *following Health and Safety - good ventilation and comfort breaks for the model and artist must be considered
- *preparing self, work area and model
- selecting and using the products, tools and equipment covered in topic 2.1 based on different themes in order to achieve the desired body art look
- applying the airbrush techniques and body art techniques covered in topic 2.3
- removing the body art make-up application
- *providing recommendations to the model and evaluating the body art application.

*As covered in unit 301 'Working in the film, TV and theatre industry' unit.

Topic 2.4

Learners will need to clean and maintain airbrush guns and by carrying out the following:

- flush through with distilled water
- dismantle airbrush
- thoroughly clean each section according to manufacturer's instructions
- re-assemble airbrush back together
- store in a safe place.

Guidance for delivery

It is recommended centres build links with outside companies who can be involved to give educational talks about the developments and current trends within body art application.

It would be beneficial to build links with other departments within the college to gain maximum delivery.

As an introduction, it would be useful to split learners into pairs or small groups and think about current job opportunities within the body art industry and where you think it will go in the future.

Learners should be encouraged to research current body art trends independently.

It is recommended to combine both airbrush and body art together using techniques on the body and face. When beginning airbrush make-up, it is important to allow the learners to practise controlling the airbrush on a blank piece of paper creating thin lines, thick lines, swirls and dots.

Learners should complete full body art looks and not just limbs or torso.

Learners should be encouraged to produce a look book of different iconic looks within body art that could be used as a reference for the rest of their career.

Some of the activities will require group work but each learner will need to be given the opportunity to be the leader of the group.

Learners should be encouraged to join art classes to gain technical drawing skills.

Off-site trips to the body art competitions would be useful to allow learners to see the progression routes within body art, also looking into the historical influences of body art through off-site trip to the history museum.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to understand that as a make-up artist being able to apply camouflage make-up is a very valuable, desired and rewarding skill to provide a model.

It can bring psychological, physical and social benefits to those who are experiencing an altered image, helping people to cope better with scarring and various skin conditions, which can enhance their self-esteem.

Skin camouflage involves the skilful application of camouflage products to blend a specific area into surrounding skin, balance out the skin tone and restore a natural vista.

Skin camouflage can be applied for a number of reasons from temporarily covering an undesirable feature, such as a bruise or a tattoo, to more remedial uses, such as concealing psoriasis, rosacea, vitiligo, acne, birthmarks, or healed scar tissue.

Although a physical change is not possible with skin camouflage and there are limits as to what can be achieved, a reasonable illusion is often attainable.

Camouflage make-up skills can be used alongside many of make-up jobs to enhance the overall look and have outstanding finished results.

The following key aspects must be covered within the delivery of this unit, including the following: health and Safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- What is camouflage make-up?
- When will I need to use camouflage skills?
- What are the various skin conditions I would be expected to camouflage as a make-up artist?
- How will camouflage make-up enhance the overall make-up?
- What are the possible career options for camouflage make-up?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand the history of camouflage make-up and its uses

2. Carry out the application of camouflage make-up.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

Learning outcome 1: Understand the history of camouflage make-up and its uses

Topics

1.1: Origins of camouflage make-up and its present-day position

1.2: Colour theory

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to explore the history and origins of camouflage make-up and why it was used including the following:

- Lydia O’Leary (USA 1928 created Cover Mark)
- Joyce Allsworth
- Max Factor
- Elizabeth Arden
- Sir Archibald
- Sir Harold Gillies
- British Red Cross
- British Association of Skin Camouflage (BASC).

Learners will need to explore the link between plastic surgeons in World War II and camouflage; the present-day position within the NHS and private healthcare sectors; the responsibilities that you have as an industry professional in this environment.

Learners will need to understand the uses of skin camouflage to cover conditions such as the following:

- hyper and hypo pigmentation
- erythema
- scar tissue
- birth marks
- tattoos
- dilated capillaries
- freckles
- moles
- under eye dark circles on a range of skin tones.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand the importance of colour theory and colour correction, which is fundamental aspect when applying camouflage make-up, including the following:

- the principles of colour
 - primary
 - secondary
 - tertiary

- quaternary
- light waves
- quality of colour
 - hue
 - intensity and luminosity
 - saturation
 - value and tone
- colour schemes
 - monochromatic
 - complimentary/harmonious
 - analogous
 - triadic
- colour correction
 - green
 - yellow
 - lilac
 - orange.

Learning outcome 2: Carry out the application of camouflage make-up

Topics

- 2.1: Camouflage techniques
- 2.2: Products, tools and equipment
- 2.3: Applying camouflage make-up

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to understand the application techniques to carry out a camouflage service, all of which will need adapting depending on client's needs, including all of the following:

- application techniques
 - colour corrective make-up
 - colour matching
 - highlighting
 - shading
 - stippling
 - blending
 - buffing
 - layering products
 - setting.

Topic 2.2:

Learners will need to understand which products, tools and equipment can be used as part of the camouflage application, taking the following into consideration the following and adapting as appropriate:

- skin types
 - dry
 - oily
 - combination
 - normal
- skin conditions

- mature
- dehydrated
- sensitive
- tones
 - warm
 - cool
 - neutral
- qualities and limitations of products and model
- density of product
- duration of product.

Learners will also need to take into account different ethnicity in relation to skin types, conditions and tones and understand how to adapt the use of different products available to create a camouflage make-up. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the model's needs, skin type and condition and adapt accordingly to gain maximum results.

Products to include the following:

- cream make-up
- alcohol activated paint
- isopropyl alcohol
- airbrush make-up
- waterproof
- powders
- specialised cleanser
- fixing spray
- correctors
- concealers
- foundations
- products containing titanium dioxide
- hand sanitisers
- make-up pencils

Learners will need to understand the use of tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the model's needs and application techniques, to include the following:

- airbrush compressor
- airbrush gun
- brushes
- sponges
- palettes
- velour puffs
- disposable spatulas
- mixing palette
- towels
- spatulas
- mirror
- make-up cape
- chair
- brush holder
- bin
- disposables

- cotton buds
- tissues/ couch roll
- cotton wool
- disposable applicators
- disposable spatulas
- gloves.

Topic 2.3

It will be fundamental for learners to understand how to communicate to models with body dysmorphia and being aware of sensitivity and not making assumptions of any camouflaging needs.

Learner will need to be able to apply the camouflage application including the following:

- completing a look book of camouflage applications
- carrying out briefing techniques
- following Health and Safety
- preparing self, work area and client
- taking into consideration factors that can influence the camouflage application as covered in topic 1.2
- selecting and using the products, tools, equipment as covered in topic 2.2 in relation to client's needs
- applying the camouflage techniques as covered in topic 2.1
- providing recommendations to the client and evaluating the camouflage application.

Guidance for delivery

As an introduction, learners could be divided into pairs or small groups to think about current job opportunities for a camouflage make-up artist within the make-up industry.

Learners will benefit from doing enrichment trips to hospitals that specialise in camouflage make-up, having guest speakers from the NHS or voluntary work in hospitals to give an insight to camouflage make-up and its effects on the model.

It is encouraged to contact local hospitals that offer camouflage to models to build employer links and ask them to provide an industry talk.

Learners will need guidance on how to research the different skin conditions and its effects on the model, they will need specific guidelines set up for camouflage make-up, model care, model comfort and communication.

Camouflage can be taught by airbrush which is also widely available within the industry.

It is recommended to set up a camouflage clinic once a fortnight to see what interest is within your local area.

Learners should produce photographic evidence which shows a step-by-step instruction on how they have camouflaged, recording the make-up used and taking before and after pictures.

This unit will give learners an in depth understanding of colour mixing and blending. It could be linked to unit 303 'Fashion and photographic make-up' and unit 308 'Specialist bridal hair and make-up' units.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to build their knowledge and understanding of the factors that contribute to a successful career as a specialist bridal make-up artist.

Learners will explore different ethnic and cultural bridal hair and make-up, looking at how location will impact on the application of make-up as well as skilled techniques to create specialised bridal hair and make-up.

Learners will need to understand that the wedding day is a very important day in the brides' life therefore it is fundamental that everyone involved is professional. Professionalism and organisation are important skills for in order to deal with any eventuality that could occur.

Learners will need to understand the techniques used to secure the hair and make-up as they will need to last for the duration of the wedding. Learners will also need to understand how to adapt the make-up for various lighting environments throughout the day.

Both units 301 and 302 must be delivered alongside this unit, covering key aspects such as health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- What are the adaptations for a location wedding?
- What techniques are used to create a Pakistani make-up and hair look?
- What is a tikka?
- How does lighting effect make-up?
- How would snow affect the make-up through a camera lens?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Understand how to prepare for specialist bridal hair and make-up
2. Carry out specialist bridal hair and make-up.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

Learning outcome 1: Understand how to prepare for specialist bridal hair and make-up

1.1: Ethnic and cultural bridal hair and make-up

1.2: Bridal hair and make-up themes

1.3: Locations and conditions of wedding

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to explore how bridal hair and make-up can differ depending on different ethnicity, culture and beliefs including the following:

- location eg
 - beach
 - boat

- castle
- lake
- temple
- church
- abroad
- register office
- hotels.

- conditions eg
 - hot climate
 - wind
 - cold
 - indoor
 - outdoor
 - rain
 - humidity
 - artificial lighting
 - snow.

Learning outcome 2: Carry out specialist bridal hair and make-up

Topics

- 2.1: Make-up products, tools, equipment and ornamentation
- 2.2: Hair products, tools and equipment and ornamentation
- 2.3: Specialist bridal make-up and hair techniques
- 2.4: Create a specialist bridal hair and make-up look

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to explore a range of different types of products available to create a bridal make-up look. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the client's needs, skin type and condition and adapt accordingly. Products to include the following:

- cleanser
- moisturiser
- hand sanitisers
- cleansing wipes
- primer

- creating the specialist bridal hairstyle
- *providing recommendations to the client and evaluating the specialist bridal make-up and hair application.

*As covered in unit 301 'Working in the film, TV and theatre industry'.

Guidance for delivery

It is recommended centres build links with outside companies who can be involved to give educational talks about the different ethnic and cultural make-up and hair styling.

Learners shall be encouraged to work with the public to invite brides-to-be for make-up and hair trials.

It would be beneficial to shadow another make-up artist so they experience a wedding day.

Learners should produce a mood board for each idea researched so progression of achieved look is evidenced. Learners will need guidance on how to research and how to document their findings this can then be added to their look book.

It would be beneficial to encourage learners to watch related films within the teaching environment to stimulate the learners' imaginations to create their own ideas and adaptations.

It is essential that learners do not copy directly from pictures as their own ideas and inspiration are essential.

What is this unit about?

The purpose of this unit is for learners to carry out basic cutting techniques for a range of media productions, using the knowledge and skills to cut women's and men's hair. Basic cutting techniques covering one length cut, layered cut and techniques needed to trim existing cuts.

The skills developed by the learner will include layering, club cutting, and scissor over comb, free hand and clipper work cutting techniques.

Knowledge acquired by the learners will enable them to understand the factors that will need to be considered when cutting hair, the effect cutting hair at different angles has on the haircut, the importance of applying tension to the hair when cutting and the safety considerations that must be taken into account.

This will be basic hair cutting skills in the workplace of fashion, feature film, television and theatre also for the purpose of continuity within the media sector. These skills will be incorporated into a schedule/running order and even a script working to continuity for a range of media productions.

Learners will explore the importance of safe working practices within the make-up industry and how to communicate effectively and build professional relationships.

The following key aspects must be covered within the delivery of this unit, including the following: health and safety, professional practice, consultation, communication, contra-indications, preparation of self, work area and model, contra-actions, recommendations and evaluation, creation of a look book and industry portfolio.

Learners may be introduced to the unit by asking themselves questions such as:

- What media productions will I be required to use cutting skills?
- What is continuity and why is it important?
- What recommendations could be given to maintain the hair cut?

Learning outcomes

In this unit, learners will be able to

1. Prepare for cutting and styling hair
2. Cut and style hair.

Scope of content

This section gives details of the scope of content to be covered in the teaching of the unit to ensure that all the learning outcomes can be achieved.

Learning outcome 1: Prepare for cutting and styling hair

Topics

- 1.1: Influencing factors for cutting and styling
- 1.2: Products, tools and equipment
- 1.3: Cutting and styling techniques
- 1.4: Cutting angles
- 1.5: The concept of continuity

Topic 1.1

Learners will need to understand how factors influence cutting and styling.

Learners will need to be able to identify factors during briefings with the models through visual and manual observation to ensure achievement of the desired look. Factors include the following:

- hair movement
- hair texture and density
- hair condition
- length
- hair growth patterns
- elasticity
- porosity
- head shape/face shapes/features
- model/model requirements
- contra-indications.

Topic 1.2

Learners will need to understand the different types of products available to style and finish the look. Learners will need to understand which products to select depending on the model's needs, hair type and condition and how to adapt accordingly. Product to include the following:

- styling products
 - mousse, setting lotion, heat protection, gel
- finishing products
 - serum, wax, gel, dressing cream, texture dust, hair spray, shine spray.

Learners will need to understand the use of tools and equipment and the importance of selecting the correct ones depending on the look to achieve as well as the cutting and styling techniques.

- tools and equipment:
 - scissors
 - combs
 - section clips
 - hair clippers and attachments
 - T liners /beard trimmers
 - gown
 - cutting collar

- hair dryer
- brushes
- straightener
- tong/wand
- rollers
- water spray.

Topic 1.3

Learners will need to understand the different cutting and styling techniques and their impact on the final look, as well as considering the influencing factor listed in topic 1.1 that will require adaptation. The techniques include the following:

- cutting techniques
 - layering
 - club cutting
 - scissor over comb
 - clipper work
 - freehand
 - thinning
- styling techniques to finish the look
 - blow-drying
 - finger drying.

Topic 1.4

Learners will need to understand the angles of cutting to achieve the desired length and shape to enhance the model's face shape and hair type.

In order to create or maintain different shapes, textures and looks the following angles of cutting need to be explored:

- angles to create one-length effects
- angles to create short graduation
- angles to create basic layers
- angles to create long graduation.

Topic 1.5

Learners will need to understand how to maintain a haircut for continuity. Learners will need to understand the fundamental importance of consistency of looks due to out of sequence shooting. In order to maintain continuity, the following need to be considered:

- working in media to a brief or script
- liaising with designers/directors
- following a shooting schedule
- recording photographic evidence.

Learning outcome 2: Cut and style hair

Topics

- 2.1: Select products, tools and equipment
- 2.2: Cut hair following guidelines for the required look
- 2.3: Cross check the haircut to ensure even balance and weight distribution
- 2.4: Style hair to create the finished look

As part of this outcome, learners will need to complete the following:

- develop the look book based on the design brief
- carry out consultation
- follow Health and Safety
- prepare self, work area model.

Topic 2.1, 2.2

Learners will need to be able to select products, tools and equipment as stated in topic 1.2 to carry out the cutting techniques listed in topic 1.3 as appropriate to trim existing cuts and create different types of haircuts, including the following:

- one length
- layered cut.

Learners will need to be able cut and follow the hair guidelines to accurately achieve the required look.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to be able to cross-check the haircut to ensure:

- even balance
- even weight distribution
- accuracy of the hair cut – including cutting angles as stated in topic 1.4.

Topic 2.4

Learners will need to be able to style hair to create a finished look that meets the requirements of the design brief to include:

- use of styling products
- use of tools and equipment
- use of styling techniques
- use of finishing products.

Learners will be expected to provide recommendations to the model/performer and evaluate the cutting and styling techniques.

Guidance for delivery

Learners are encouraged to learn and understand the different cuts by using a range of resources such as books, magazines and videos.

Tutors should demonstrate cutting on a tuition head or model covering the range of cutting skills learners will be covering. Learners are to practise on tuition heads following guidance from tutor, cutting and practising within a realistic timescale expected in industry.

It is important to emphasise the difference of working in a hair salon to working with hair in the media sector. Although many of the techniques are the same, the clientele, requirements and environment are very different.

Learners need to be encouraged to think of their hairdressing skills as an extension of their make-up skills and not as a separate ability. To have equal strengths increases employability.

Inviting industry professionals into class to speak and demonstrate the skills required will inspire learners and give them the drive to improve their hair skills; briefs and shooting schedules should be discussed in order to familiarise learners with media make-up industry practices.

Here practice is vital and learners should be encouraged to work on as many different models/heads as possible, developing experience with hair types and people's requirements.

Guidance for delivery

In order to deliver this unit effectively, a wide range of teaching methods are required, such as workshops; demonstrations; lectures; discussions; use of visual aids such as watching television, films and productions that may be a suitable source of information; learner practical experimentation; peer assessment and outside guest speakers.

Learners will fully develop their research skills, using a variety of sources in order to gain a clear picture of how make-up, hair and fashion trends have been influenced through the years.

It may benefit the learner to have prior knowledge in basic make-up and hair skills before starting this unit, therefore it is recommended for centres to deliver units 303 and 304 prior to the delivery of this unit.

Although similar, it is important to explain the difference in creative hair and avant-garde so learners understand what is expected of them in this unit.

Learning outcome 2: Understand the chemistry development of ingredients and products in cosmetics through the years

Topics

- 2.1: Chemistry of cosmetics
- 2.2: Common ingredients found in cosmetics
- 2.3: Testing of cosmetics
- 2.4: Product development

Topic 2.1

Learners will need to explore the chemical compositions of the following products and textures including the following:

- products
 - foundation
 - powder
 - blusher
 - eye shadow
 - eyeliner
 - lipstick
 - lip liner
 - mascara
 - Highlighter.

Learners will also will need to understand the key effects and benefits of the textures from each of the products used in relation to setting, lighting, location, skin type and conditions, to include the following:

- textures
 - fluids (waters)

- creams
- gels
- powders
- mousses
- solids
- waxes
- lotions
- serums.

Topic 2.2

Learners will gain an understanding into the following types of ingredients found in cosmetics and their uses:

- common ingredients
 - water
 - emulsifiers
 - preservatives
 - thickeners
 - pH stabilisers
 - dyes
 - fragrances
 - silicone
 - SPF
 - paraffin
 - titanium oxide
 - petroleum
 - mineral oil
 - dihydroxyacetone (DHA).

Learners will need to understand the different types of toxic and pure ingredients found in cosmetics including the following:

- toxic ingredients
 - lead
 - mercury
 - copper
 - cyanide
 - cadmium
 - sodium lauryl sulfate
 - lanolin
 - parabens
 - magnesium silicate (talc)
 - sodium chloride
 - formaldehyde
- pure ingredients
 - anti-oxidants
 - vitamins and derivatives
 - essential oils
 - plant extracts.

Learners will explore how ingredients in cosmetics have developed over time and how they were used including the following:

- ingredients used in earlier years
 - castor oil

- lead
- mercury
- arsenic
- malachite
- bromine
- iodine
- copper
- red ochre
- iron oxide
- modern day ingredients
 - retinol
 - salicylic acid
 - SPF
 - dimethicone
 - hyaluronic acid
 - vitamin A
 - vitamin C
 - collagen
 - alpha hydroxy acids.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to understand how cosmetics are tested and the controversy around the testing of cosmetics:

- non-animal testing and animal testing
- human clinical trials and non-human clinical trials.

Learners will need to know that labelling on products identifies how cosmetics have been tested.

Topic 2.4

Learners will need to understand how the development of the following products have advanced in the cosmetic industry including the following:

- high definition
- airbrush
- mineral
- camouflage
- anti-ageing
- light reflecting
- semi-permanent make-up
- semi-permanent individual eyelash extensions and brow extensions.

Learning outcome 3: Understand working practices in retail

Topics

3.1: Working practices in retail

3.2: Client satisfaction

Topic 3.1

Learners will need to understand the safe working practices that will need to be considered when working in retail, including:

- ingredients eg
 - allergies
 - toxicity
 - testing
- shelf life eg
 - timeframes
 - stock rotation
 - storage
- decomposition eg
 - storage
 - storage containers.

Topic 3.3

Learners will need to understand the importance of having products knowledge in order to meet client's satisfaction when retailing products, including the following:

- product name including features and benefits
- active ingredients
- shelf life
- volume of product
- instructions for use and disposal
- precautions
- manufacturer's name and address
- batch number
- country of origin
- non-animal testing/ animal testing.

Learners will need to understand how to link the products knowledge when retailing as well as understanding the importance professionalism.

Learners will need to understand the expectations within retail companies ensuring sales and make-up applications are carried out in a commercially viable way.

Guidance for delivery

This unit could be delivered alongside unit 305 'Create historical hair and make-up looks.'

Learners could create a timeline of events to show how cosmetics have evolved throughout the years. Learners need to research in depth the types of cosmetics that have evolved within the industry from Ancient Egyptians to present day and evaluate how over time cosmetics have advanced due to modern day technology.

Learners will work with many different cosmetic brands throughout their career as a make-up artist. It is important for learners to gain background knowledge into the founders of these cosmetic houses and how they have influenced the cosmetic industry through the years.

Learners should be taught about the basic chemistry behind cosmetic products. They should understand the different composition of ingredients used and their uses depending on their texture and consistency. When learning about ingredients used in cosmetics learners will gain an understanding into the toxicity levels found in products and their effects they have on health.

Learners may choose to work in retail, so they will need to understand the working practices that need to be followed. Learners should be given an opportunity to attend work experience in a retail environment where they can practise promotion, selling and working to a commercially viable time.

Watching television adverts and visiting local stores learners can identify ways in which the brand tries to sell itself. Learners will be able to look at the packaging and identify what information should be provided.

Topic 2.3

Learners will need to understand the importance of safeguarding in relation to on-line blogging including the following:

- dangers and risks associated with on-line profiles, to include
 - identity safety - sharing your address, phone, and bank info places you at risk of identity theft, passwords to your accounts should be changed often
 - cyberbullying - don't respond to a cyber-bully, ensure that you keep proof of any messages, emails, screen shots, blog etc. and ensure you report to a person of authority
 - privacy and plagiarism - downloading, copying or sharing music, movies, or photos without the creator's authority is illegal, copying and pasting without permission is illegal
 - cyber predators - never respond to messages that make you feel uncomfortable, report any improper activity to a person of authority
 - data protection - ensure that confidential information is not shared across social networking sites.

Guidance for delivery

This is a theory unit which is meant to give knowledge to learners about on-line blogging within the make-up industry and the different platforms that can be used.

It is at discretion of centres to deliver it on a practical basis, where learners could create and publicise their own on-line blog.

However, some activities could include looking at a range of different blogs and analysing and evaluating key points, learners may create individual or group blogging as part of a team exercise to encourage peer-learning and team building.

Consideration to safe guarding is essential for these activities, and the topics listed in topic 2.3 should be discussed and explored with each learner.

Centres may decide to invite professional bloggers to give educational talks about the developments and trends within the make-up industry.

The following documents contain essential information for centres delivering City & Guilds qualifications. They should be referred to in conjunction with this handbook. To download the documents and to find other useful documents, go to the Centres and Training Providers homepage on www.cityandguilds.com.

City & Guilds Centre Manual

This document provides guidance for organisations wishing to become City & Guilds approved centres, as well as information for approved centres delivering City & Guilds qualifications. It covers the centre and qualification approval process as well as providing guidance on delivery, assessment and quality assurance for approved centres.

It also details the City & Guilds requirements for ongoing centre and qualification approval, and provides examples of best practice for centres. Specifically, the document includes sections on:

- the centre and qualification approval process
- assessment, internal quality assurance and examination roles at the centre
- registration and certification of candidates
- non-compliance and malpractice
- complaints and appeals
- equal opportunities
- data protection
- management systems
- maintaining records
- internal quality assurance
- external quality assurance.

Our Quality Assurance Requirements

This document explains the requirements for the delivery, assessment and awarding of our qualifications. All centres working with City & Guilds must adopt and implement these requirements across all of their qualification provision. Specifically, this document:

- specifies the quality assurance and control requirements that apply to all centres
- sets out the basis for securing high standards, for all our qualifications and/or assessments
- details the impact on centres of non-compliance

Our Quality Assurance Requirements document encompasses the relevant regulatory requirements of the following documents, which apply to centres working with City & Guilds:

- Ofqual's General Conditions of Recognition

The centre homepage section of the City & Guilds website also contains useful information on

- Walled Garden: how to register and certificate candidates on line
- Events: dates and information on the latest Centre events
- Online assessment: how to register for e-assessments.
