General Observations

A high level of First Class passes is achieved at both Intermediate speeds. At both 80 wpm and 100 wpm the number of candidates passing has increased since 2005.

Intermediate (80 wpm)

Intermediate (100 wpm)

Areas of good performance

Candidates are well prepared for the examination and the presentation of work is usually very good.

Areas for development

Some candidates are failing the complete the examination. Candidates should be encouraged to practise to increase their overall typing speed. Spelling and misinterpretation still remain areas of weakness.

Recommendations

Candidates should practise under timed examination conditions.

Tips

- Reading serious magazines on a regular basis will help improve your English
- Work through past papers under exam conditions.
- Proof-read your work
- Practise your spelling
