WHY CUSTOMER SERVICE MATTERS TO... AN UNDERGROUND TRAIN WORKER

In any job, new staff settle in better if they have a buddy. The buddy will support and guide the new colleague, allowing them to observe them carry out tasks, setting the example of good practice for them to copy.
UNIT 225 (LEVEL 2 UNIT, 5 CREDITS)
BUDDY A COLLEAGUE TO DEVELOP CUSTOMER SERVICE SKILLS

What this unit is about

In customer service roles it is often useful to have a ‘buddy’ relationship with somebody who has more experience. If you are asked to buddy a colleague who is learning customer service aspects of your job, you will need to approach that responsibility in an organised way.

This unit is about how to be a good buddy by working alongside your colleague and providing constructive feedback and support. You do not need to be more senior than your colleague or be a supervisor to act as a customer service buddy.

AN EXAMPLE
In your customer service role, you are asked to buddy a new member of staff. You prepare an informal plan of what you want to cover and how you will do it. You carry out your normal tasks allowing your colleague to observe you and then allow her to do the job, with you observing her practice. You make sure your colleague knows you are there to help and offer hints, tips and advice that you know from your own experience are useful.

What have you done in your workplace that is similar?
Write your answer in this space...

...now talk to your assessor about how this could be turned into observed evidence.

You should note

1 Your evidence should be collected when carrying out a real job, whether paid or voluntary, and when dealing with real customers, whether internal or external to the organisation. However, for this unit, evidence collected in a realistic working environment or a work placement is permissible. Simulation is not allowed for any performance evidence within this unit. (Guidelines for a realistic working environment can be found in the Assessment Strategy for Customer Service S/NVQs at Levels 1, 2, 3 and 4 – February 2010.)

2 You may collect the evidence for the unit through work in a private sector organisation, a not-for-profit organisation or a public services organisation.

3 You must provide evidence that shows you have done this over a sufficient period of time, with different customers on different occasions, for your assessor to be confident that you are competent.

is for vision

Every organisation has a vision, whether in writing or just in the mind of the owner in the case of a small business. The vision is ‘the dream’ – it is what the organisation wants the future to look like. It is important that all new members of staff understand the organisation’s vision and how to demonstrate it in their roles.

Assessed evidence

You need to show that you understand and are able to complete all the elements in this unit over a sufficient period of time, with different customers, on different occasions. Evidence may be gained through direct observation or products of work, recorded by your assessor and then referenced in the box below. On the next pages, these evidence references can be written in the relevant boxes of ‘What you must cover’, ‘What you must do’ and ‘What you must know’.
