Principles, values and behaviours for Early Years Practitioners

Principles

- The welfare of the child is paramount.
- Practitioners contribute to the high quality delivery of children's care, learning and development and this is reflected in every aspect of practice and service provision.
- Practitioners, within the scope of their own role, work with parents, carers and families who are partners in the care, learning and development of their children and are the child's first and most enduring educators.

Values

- The needs, rights and views of the child are at the centre of all practice and provision
- Individuality, difference and diversity are valued and celebrated
- Equality of opportunity and anti-discriminatory practice are actively promoted
- Children's health and well-being are actively promoted
- Children's personal and physical safety is safeguarded, whilst allowing for risk and challenge as appropriate to the capabilities of the child
- Self-esteem, resilience and a positive self-image are recognised as essential to every child's development
- Confidentiality and agreements about confidential information are respected as appropriate unless a child's protection and well-being are at stake
- Professional knowledge, skills and values are shared appropriately in order to enrich the experience of children more widely
- Best practice requires reflection and a continuous search for improvement.

In order to be assessed as competent, candidates must demonstrate that they work within the context of the principles and values of the sector. Assessors will be expected to confirm when they sign the unit/qualification declaration form.

Behaviours

Those candidates completing this qualification as part of the Early Years Educator apprenticeship standard must also evidence the following behaviours:

- Care and Compassion
- Being team focused
- Honesty, trust and integrity
- Commitment to improving outcomes for children through inspiration and child-centred care and education
- Working in a non-discriminatory way
- Working practice takes into account fundamental British values

Delivery of the qualification should incorporate opportunities for the apprentice to demonstrate these behaviours throughout the on-programme phase of the apprenticeship.

Centre requirements

Approval

Existing City & Guilds centres wishing to offer this qualification will have to go through the standard Qualification Approval Process.

Organisations which are not already City & Guilds approved centres will need to complete both centre approval and qualification approval processes.

Role requirements

When assessing practical competence in the early years setting, assessors must

- be occupationally competent
- hold or be working towards one of the following qualifications:
 - D32//D33 or A1
 - the A1 replacements (e.g. City & Guilds 6317 which includes the Level 3 Award in Assessing Competence in the Work Environment or the Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement)
 - another suitable qualification equivalent/alternative in the assessment of work based performance. This must be agreed in advance with the External Quality Assurer (EQA) and may include nationally recognised teaching qualifications

Assessors of competence may also make assessment decisions on knowledge based units and learning outcomes.

Assessors of knowledge based units and knowledge based learning outcomes must:

- be occupationally knowledgeable. This means that each assessor should possess relevant knowledge and understanding to assess units designed to test specific knowledge and understanding or units where knowledge and understanding are components of competency.
- hold or be working towards one of the A1 replacement qualifications such as the City & Guilds 6317:
 - Level 3 Award in Assessing Vocational Competence or
 - Level 3 Award in Assessing Vocationally Related Achievement or
 - Level 3 Certificate in Assessing Vocational Achievement or
 - another suitable qualification in the assessment of knowledge. This must be agreed in advance with the EQA and may include nationally recognised teaching qualifications

Internal Quality Assurers / Internal Quality Assurance

Internal quality assurance is key to ensuring that the assessment of evidence for units is of consistent and appropriate quality. Those performing the internal quality assurance role must be occupationally knowledgeable and be qualified to make quality assurance decisions.

Qualified to Internally Quality Assure means that you must either hold or be working towards one of the following qualifications:

- D34 or V1
- The V1 replacements such as the:
 - Level 4 Award in the Internal Quality Assurance of Assessment Processes and Practice OR
 - Level 4 Certificate in Leading the Internal Quality Assurance of Assessment Processes and Practice

In certain circumstances City & Guilds will recognise non accredited learning and experience as equivalent as follows:

If the Internal Quality Assurer does not hold a qualification they must be able to demonstrate evidence of working to their own organisation's QA or IV standards which clearly link to V1 or other equivalent standards for Internal Quality Assurance.

Learner entry requirements

City & Guilds does not set any formal entry requirements for this qualification. However learners who are completing programmes of study that are funded may be subject to additional requirements.

Age restrictions

This Level 3 Diploma is not approved for the use by those who are under 16 years of age. City & Guilds cannot accept any registrations for learners under this age. There may also be age restrictions placed on individuals when undertaking certain work activities within the Early Years sector. Where there is uncertainty about such restrictions these should be clarified with the appropriate regulator.

Confidential records used as evidence

Learners may quite appropriately cite confidential records as evidence in their qualification as long as the parent, or the child's advocate, has given written and informed consent for records to be used for this purpose.

Confidential records should never be included in learners' portfolio of evidence and should be examined in-situ by the qualified occupationally competent assessor. Assessors/learners should describe and record what evidence has been provided and where the evidence is located.

The EQA may wish to discuss such evidence with the centre as part of the verification process, but would not normally require sight of confidential records.

However, in the unlikely event that the EQA should have concerns about the quality of such evidence, they will discuss their concerns with the centre quality assurance manager. They may also seek consent to access such records from the organisation which has responsibility for the safe keeping of the particular confidential records in question.

Images of minors being used as evidence

Photographs and video or other electronic recordings are often used in settings to support the child assessment process and to celebrate children's experiences and achievements. Photographs and video/recording should always be treated as a confidential record, be left in situ in the early years setting and must not be placed in the portfolio of evidence. Learners must seek permission before referring to photographs and/or other images (video/electronic recordings) in their assessment records and images must not be used inappropriately (eg to embellish/decorate a portfolio). Tutor/assessors must ensure that permission has been secured before accepting such evidence and before viewing images in situ.

Throughout the assessment journey, centres must seek to safeguard the privacy of children and ensure that they fully meet the requirements of child protection practice. If videos or photographs of minors (those under 18) are referred to as part of the assessment process, both the centre and learner have shared responsibilities relating to child protection legislation.

It is the responsibility of the centre to inform the learner of the need to obtain written permission from the minor's parent/guardian. This must be in place prior to making references to images in assessment records and before tutor/assessors can view visual displays and pictorial records/reports.

Assessment centres must also ensure that all assessment staff are suitably qualified and approved to work in close proximity to and have access to children and vulnerable people. When seeking permission to make references to child images as part of the assessment process, learners and centres must ensure that clear information has been shared in relation to:

- reasons for and restrictions to referring to photographs or video recordings as evidence
- period of time for which the photographs or video recordings may need to be retained by the setting in order that the assessment process can be facilitated
- the requirement of the learner and centre to respect the setting's obligation to keep photographs or video recordings secure from unauthorised access
- the requirement of the learner and centre to respect the setting's obligation to provide secure electronic storage requirements of photographs or video recordings.

City & Guilds recognise the increasing role that social media and technologies play in day to day early years practice, e.g. online learning journal, and that e-portfolios are part of modern assessment practice. When combined this can present centres with specific challenges regarding confidentiality, anonymity, cyber security and data protection. In these circumstances centres must ensure that the employer and families/carers have provided informed consent specifically relating to the inclusion of digital recorded child observations within an e-portfolio. Centres must demonstrate that the e-portfolio system used incorporates sufficiently robust safeguards regarding data storage and access protocols; and that they are maintained to meet current data protection legislation.

Data protection and confidentiality

Data protection and confidentiality must not be overlooked when planning the delivery of this qualification. Centres offering these qualifications may need to provide City & Guilds with personal data for staff and Learners. Guidance on data protection and the obligations of City & Guilds and centres are explained in Centre Manual Supporting Customer Excellence.

Delivering the qualification

Initial assessment and induction

An initial assessment of each learner should be made before the start of their programme to identify:

- if the learner has any specific training needs,
- support and guidance they may need when working towards their qualification.
- any units they have already completed, or credit they have accumulated which is relevant to the qualification.
- the appropriate type and level of qualification.

We recommend that centres provide an induction programme so the learner fully understands the requirements of the qualification, their responsibilities as a learner, and the responsibilities of the centre. This information can be recorded on a learning contract.

Funders will require providers to audit and record details of Early Years Educator attainment of GCSE (or equivalent) English and Maths.

Time constraints

The following must be applied to the assessment of this qualification:

- Centre staff should guide learners to ensure excessive evidence gathering is avoided. Centres finding that assignments are taking longer, should contact their EQA for guidance.
- All assignments/tasks must be completed and assessed within the learner's period of registration. Centres should advise learners of any internal timescales for the completion and marking of individual assignments.

Assessment strategy

Assessment principles

Assessment decisions for competence based learning outcomes (e.g. those beginning with 'to be able to') must be made in a real work environment by an occupationally competent assessor. Any knowledge evidence integral to these learning outcomes may be generated outside of the work environment but the final assessment decision must be within the real work environment .

Assessment decisions for competence based learning outcomes must be made by an assessor qualified to make assessment decisions. Competence based assessment must include direct observation as the main source of evidence.

Expert witnesses can be used for direct observation where they have occupational expertise for specialist areas or the observation is of a particularly sensitive nature. The use of expert witnesses should be determined and agreed by the assessor.

Assessment of knowledge based learning outcomes (e.g. those beginning with 'know' or 'understand') may take place in or outside of a real work environment.

Assessment decisions for knowledge based learning outcomes must be made by an occupationally knowledgeable assessor.

Assessment decisions for knowledge based learning outcomes must be made by an assessor qualified to make assessment decisions. Where assessment is electronic or undertaken according to a set grid, the assessment decisions are made by the person who has set the answers.

Assignments

City & Guilds has developed assignments for the following units: 303, 400, 401 and 402.

These assignments cover the skills and knowledge in the unit and are set by City & Guilds, marked by the tutor/assessor internally, and externally verified by City & Guilds.

The assignment for Unit 303 is mandatory.

The assignments for Units 400, 401 and 402 are optional . This means that they may be used by learners. If the assignment is not used then the learner must provide suitable evidence which meets the assessment criteria within the unit and present this as part of their portfolio of evidence. The assessor and learner should discuss and agree how these units will be assessed at the planning stage.

Definitions

Occupationally competent:

This means that each assessor must be capable of carrying out the full requirements within the competency units they are assessing. Being occupationally competent means they are also occupationally knowledgeable. This occupational competence should be maintained annually through clearly demonstrable continuing learning and professional development.

Occupationally knowledgeable:

This means that each assessor should possess relevant knowledge and understanding, and be able to assess this in units designed to test specific knowledge and understanding, or in units where knowledge and understanding are components of competency. This occupational knowledge should be maintained annually through clearly demonstrable continuing learning and professional development.

Qualified to make assessment decisions:

This means that each assessor must hold a qualification suitable to support the making of appropriate and consistent assessment decisions. Awarding Organisations will determine what will qualify those making assessment decisions according to the unit of competence under assessment. In any case of significant uncertainty the SSCs will be consulted.

Expert witness:

Evidence from expert witnesses must meet the tests of validity, reliability and authenticity. Expert witnesses will need to demonstrate:

- They have a working knowledge of the units on which their expertise is based
- They are occupationally competent in their area of expertise
- They have EITHER any qualification in assessment of workplace performance OR a professional work role which involves evaluating the everyday practice of staff
- They have current or recent (within the last 2 years) experience of working at or above the level for which they are attesting competence
- They can demonstrate appropriate, continuous professional development relevant to the sector for which they are attesting competence
- That they have no conflict of interest in the outcome of the evidence.
