This document contains the information that centres need to offer the following qualifications:

Level 2 Award in Professional Bartending (Cocktails)

City & Guilds qualification number 7106-11

Ofqual accreditation number 500/8071/4

Level 2 Award in Professional Bartending (Cocktails with free pouring)

City & Guilds qualification number 7106-01

Ofqual accreditation number 500/8081/7

This document includes details and guidance on

- centre resource requirements
- candidate entry requirements
- information about links with, and progression to, other qualifications
- qualification standards and specifications
- assessment requirements.

2 About the qualification

2.1 Aim of the qualification

These vocationally related qualifications have been designed by City & Guilds in order to

- meet the needs of candidates who work or want to work as bartenders in the hospitality sector
- allow candidates to learn, develop and practice the skills required for employment and/or career progression in the hospitality sector
- contribute to the knowledge and understanding required for the related Level 2 NVQ Diploma in Food and Beverage Service

Note that the information in this document applies to the QCF, ie England, Wales and Northern Ireland.

This qualification is

- accredited by Ofqual at Level 2 of the QCF
- accredited by the Department of Education, Culture and Welsh Language (DECWL) at level 2 of the Credit and Qualifications Framework for Wales (CQFW)
- provides valuable accreditation of skills and/or knowledge for candidates not following Apprenticeship programmes, without requiring or proving occupational competence.

Qualifications and Credit Framework (QCF)

The QCF will replace the National Qualifications Framework (NQF) in England and Northern Ireland, and is intended to replace the regulated pillar within the Qualifications and Credit Framework for Wales (CQFW). It is also intended to align with the Scottish Credit and Qualifications Framework (SCQF). The QCF provides a way of recognising achievement through the award of credit for units and qualifications. Units within the framework are allocated:

- a level to indicate the level of difficulty
- a credit value to indicate the size of the unit. 10 hours of learning time = 1 credit value.

Learning time is a notional measure of the amount of time a typical candidate might be expected to take to complete all the learning relevant to achievement of the learning outcomes. It differs from Guided Learning Hours (GLH) which represent only those hours a tutor/trainer or facilitator are present and contributing to the learning process.

The QCF recognises learning by awarding credit each time a candidate successfully completes a unit. Candidates can accumulate and transfer credit achievement over time.

A unit is the smallest part of learning for which credit is awarded. Candidates can also gain credit for full qualifications.

For further information about the QCF, CQFW and the SCQF, please refer to the City & Guilds website.

3 Candidate entry and progression

Entry requirements

There are no formal entry requirements for candidates undertaking this qualification. However, centres must ensure that candidates have the potential and opportunity to be successful in gaining their qualification.

Please note that for funding purposes, candidates should not be entered for a qualification of the same type, content and level as that of a qualification they already hold.

Age restrictions

Candidates must be 18 years or older to undertake this qualification.

Progression

The qualification provides knowledge and practical skills related to the Level 2 NVQ Diploma in Food and Beverage Service (7132).

On completion of this qualification candidates may progress into employment or to the following City & Guilds qualifications:

- Level 3 Diploma in Professional Food and Beverage Service (7103)

4 Centre requirements

4.1 Obtaining centre and qualification approval

Only approved organisations can offer City & Guilds qualifications. Organisations approved by City & Guilds are referred to as centres.

Centres must meet a set of quality criteria including

- provision of adequate resources, both physical and human
- clear management information systems
- effective assessment and quality assurance procedures including candidate support and reliable recording systems.

An organisation that has not previously offered City & Guilds qualifications must apply for approval to become a centre. This is known as the centre approval process (CAP). Centres also need approval to offer a specific qualification. This is known as the qualification approval process (QAP). In order to offer this qualification, organisations which are not already City & Guilds centres must apply for centre and qualification approval at the same time. Existing City & Guilds centres will only need to apply for qualification approval.

Full details of the procedures and forms for applying for centre and qualification approval are given in Providing City & Guilds qualifications which is also available as part of the City & Guilds centre toolkit, and is downloadable from the City & Guilds website.

Regional offices will support new centres through the approval process. They will also provide details of the fees applicable for approvals.

Assessments must not be undertaken until qualification approval has been obtained.

City & Guilds reserves the right to withdraw qualification or centre approval for reasons of debt, malpractice or non-compliance with City & Guilds' policies, regulations, requirements, procedures and guidelines, or for any reason that may be detrimental to the maintenance of authentic, reliable and valid qualifications or that may prejudice the name of City & Guilds. Further details of the reasons for suspension and withdrawal of approval, procedures and timescales are contained in Providing City & Guilds qualifications.

4 Centre requirements

4.2 Resource requirements

Physical resources

Centres must have access to sufficient equipment in the centre or workplace to ensure candidates have the opportunity to cover all of the practical activities. It is acceptable for centres to use specially designated areas within a centre for the unit.

It is essential that centres have the following equipment in order to deliver the qualification:

Centre staff

Assessor and verifier requirements

While the Assessor/Verifier (A/V) units are valued as qualifications for centre staff, they are not currently a requirement for this qualification.

Continuing professional development (CPD)

Centres are expected to support their staff in ensuring that their knowledge of the occupational area and of best practice in delivery, mentoring, assessment and verification remains current, and takes into account any national or legislative developments.

4 Centre requirements

4.3 Registration and certification

Full details of City & Guilds' administrative procedures for this qualification are provided in the City & Guilds Online Catalogue. This information includes details on

- registration procedures
- enrolment numbers
- fees
- entry for examinations
- claiming certification.

Centres should be aware of time constraints regarding the registration and certification periods for the qualification, as specified in the City & Guilds Online Catalogue.

Centres should follow all administrative guidance carefully, particularly noting that fees, registration and certification end dates for the qualification are subject to change. The latest news is available on the website (www.cityandguilds.com).

Notification of results

After completion of assessment, candidates will receive, via their centre, a 'notification of candidate results', giving details of how they performed. This is not a certificate of achievement.

Full certificates

Full certificates are only issued to candidates who have met the full requirements of the qualification.

4 Centre requirements

4.4 Quality assurance

Internal quality assurance

Approved centres must have effective quality assurance systems to ensure optimum delivery and assessment of qualifications.

Quality assurance includes initial centre approval, qualification approval and the centre's own internal procedures for monitoring quality. Centres are responsible for internal quality assurance, and City & Guilds is responsible for external quality assurance.

National standards and rigorous quality assurance, in the case of this qualification, are maintained by the use of

- City & Guilds assignments, marked by the centre according to externally set marking criteria
- internal (centre) quality assurance
- City & Guilds external verification.

To meet the quality assurance criteria for this qualification, the centre must ensure that the following internal roles are undertaken

- quality assurance co-ordinator
- assessor
- internal verifier/moderator

Full details and guidance on the internal and external quality assurance requirements and procedures can be found in Providing City & Guilds qualifications and in the Centre toolkit together with full details of the tasks, activities and responsibilities of quality assurance staff.

Retaining assessment records

Centres must retain copies of candidate assessment records for at least three years after certification.

External quality assurance

External verifiers are appointed by City & Guilds to approve centres, and to monitor the assessment and internal quality assurance carried out by centres. External verification is carried out to ensure that assessment is valid and reliable, and that there is good assessment practice in centres.

To carry out their quality assurance role, external verifiers/moderators must have appropriate occupational and verifying knowledge and expertise. City & Guilds external verifiers attend training and development designed to keep them up-to-date, to facilitate standardisation between verifiers and to share good practice.

External verifiers:

The role of the external verifier is to

- provide advice and support to centre staff
- ensure the quality and consistency of assessments within and between centres by the use of systematic sampling
- regularly visit centres to ensure they continue to meet the centre and qualification approval criteria
- provide feedback to centres and to City & Guilds.

External quality assurance for the qualification will be provided by the usual City & Guilds external verification process. This includes the use of an electronically scannable report form which is designed to provide an objective risk analysis of individual centre assessment and verification practice.

Further details of the role of external verifiers are given in Providing City & Guilds qualifications.

5 Course design and delivery

Recommended delivery strategies

Provided that the requirements for the qualification are met, centres may design course programmes of study in any way that they feel best meets the needs and capabilities of their candidates. Centres may wish to include topics as part of the course programme, which will not be assessed through the qualification.

Relationship to other qualifications and the wider curriculum

City & Guilds recommends centres address the wider curriculum, where appropriate, when designing and delivering the course. Centres should also consider links to relevant National Occupational Standards, Functional Skills and other related qualifications.

The following relationship tables are provided to assist centres with the design and delivery of the qualification

- Relationship to the QCF NVQ qualifications can be found in Appendix 2.
- Opportunities to address social, moral, spiritual and cultural issues during the delivery of the qualification have been identified, and can be found in Appendix 3.

Health and safety

The requirement to follow safe working practices is an integral part of all City & Guilds qualifications and assessments, and it is the responsibility of centres to ensure that all relevant health and safety requirements are in place before candidates start practical assessments.

Should a candidate fail to follow health and safety practice and procedures during an assessment, the assessment must be stopped. The candidate should be informed that they have not reached the standard required to successfully pass the assessment and told the reason why. Candidates may retake the assessment at a later date, at the discretion of the centre. In case of any doubt, guidance should be sought from the external verifier.

Data protection and confidentiality

Centres offering this qualification may need to provide City & Guilds with personal data for staff and candidates. Guidance on data protection and the obligations of City & Guilds and centres are explained in Providing City & Guilds qualifications.

Initial assessment and induction

Centres will need to make an initial assessment of each candidate prior to the start of their programme to ensure they are entered for an appropriate type and level of qualification.

The initial assessment should identify any specific training needs the candidate has, and the support and guidance they may require when working towards their qualification.

City & Guilds recommends that centres provide an induction programme to ensure the candidate fully understands the requirements of the qualification they will work towards, their responsibilities as a candidate, and the responsibilities of the centre. It may be helpful to record the information on a learning contract.

Further guidance about initial assessment and induction, as well as a learning contract that centres may use, is available in the Centre toolkit.

Equal opportunities

It is a requirement of centre approval that centres have an equal opportunities policy (see Providing City & Guilds qualifications).

The regulatory authorities require City & Guilds to monitor centres to ensure that equal opportunity policies are being followed.

The City & Guilds equal opportunities policy is set out on the City & Guilds website, in Providing City & Guilds qualifications, in the Directory of qualifications, and is also available from the City & Guilds Customer Relations department.

Access to qualifications on the Qualifications and Credit Framework is open to all, irrespective of gender, race, creed, age or special needs. The centre co-ordinator should ensure that no candidate is subject to unfair discrimination on any ground in relation to access to assessment and the fairness of the assessment.

Access to assessment

City & Guilds' guidance and regulations on access to assessment are designed to facilitate access for assessments and qualifications for candidates who are eligible for adjustments to assessment arrangements. Access arrangements are designed to allow attainment to be demonstrated. For further information, please see Access to assessment and qualifications, available on the City & Guilds website.

Appeals

Centres must have their own, auditable, appeals procedure that must be explained to candidates during their induction. Appeals must be fully documented by the quality assurance co-ordinator and made available to the external verifier or City & Guilds.

Further information on appeals is given in Providing City & Guilds qualifications. There is also information on appeals for centres and learners on the City & Guilds website or available from the Customer Relations department.

Further guidance

It should be recognised that those working towards the Level 2 Award in Professional Bartending (Cocktails) or (Cocktails with Free Pouring) qualification may fall in to several brackets. Learners may already be doing a Food and Beverage Service related qualification, and may see this as a benefit to add onto the existing qualification. Equally those already in the industry should have the ability to be recognised for the skills they have gained.

Whatever path a candidate takes, it is important that they are aware of the level of commitment required to become a successful bartender. It should be made clear that professional standards are essential and that demonstrating good practice and behavioural attitudes are vital for anyone looking for a career within this sector. Good attendance and punctuality should reflect the expectations of employers. Successful teamwork will depend on the efforts of each individual.

It is intended that candidates will obtain a well-rounded comprehensive education and training in cocktail making. This will include learning and understanding of products, cleaning and checking equipment, production of beverages and dealing with all customer queries. This means that candidates will be able to serve customers whilst ensuring orders are presented accurately. The candidate will learn to multi-task which will enhance future career progression both in and outside the organisation.

It is expected that most of these skills will be developed in training areas, but to underpin delivery and give the candidate the best chance of successfully completing this unit, it is best for practical activities to take place in realistic working conditions.

Practical work experience will be of benefit for candidates to demonstrate their abilities in a real life environment and build their confidence and speed of service. Equally guest speakers from local employers and visits to local bars, restaurants, hotels and conference centres should be encouraged to ensure teaching and learning is in line with industry standards.

In order to prepare candidates for the assignments it is essential that all the range statements listed in the unit are covered throughout the teaching process. It is recommended that the assessor refer to the assessment grid contained in the assessment pack for the range of beverages to be produced.

6 Assessment

Time constraints

It is expected that centres will set reasonable time limits for candidates to achieve the practical tasks and short answer question tests in the assignments.

Some of the drinks building practical assessments are timed. This reflects the requirement for bartenders to produce drinks in a timely manner. Tutors / assessors should read carefully the guidance on timing in the Assessment pack.

Grading and marking

Assignments are graded pass, merit or distinction.

Detailed marking and grading criteria, and assessor guidance, are provided in the Assessment pack for this qualification.

The assignments are internally marked, graded and externally verified.

Simulation

Part of the assignments for this qualification consists of a drinks service. Candidates are not expected to be assessed while serving real customers, but the assessment should be conducted in a way that simulates as closely as possible the delivery of a real drinks order.

The machinery used to assess practical activities must be of a commercial standard and be capable of being used under normal working conditions.

Regulations for the conduct of examinations

Regulations for the conduct of examinations for online and written examinations are given in Providing City & Guilds qualifications. Centres should ensure they are familiar with all requirements prior to offering assessments.

Rationale

This unit provides candidates with specialist skills and knowledge in one area of the hospitality industry – the beverage sector. The unit is aimed at all first line operatives working in an environment that serves and prepares drinks. This includes bars, hotels and restaurants.

Candidates will be introduced to the full range of products used in making drinks. They will be able to prepare cocktails, select and use suitable types of glasses, and other aspects that will enable the learner to become a professional bartender.

The unit also looks at the full range of equipment, identifies safety aspects and how to operate the equipment to deliver the desired drink quality. Candidates will bring together the knowledge and skills acquired to produce good quality drinks consistently. Candidates will be able to identify and correct problems as they arise.

The unit covers the importance of presenting a positive personal image, use of effective communication techniques and responsible serving and legislation connected to the sale of alcohol.

The unit is designed to be taken as a stand-alone qualification to increase specialist skills and knowledge, but it can also be taken alongside other qualifications.

Learning outcomes

There are seven outcomes to this unit. The learner will:

1. be able to select and use equipment
