New procurement process for Apprenticeship training provision for non-levy-paying employers.

ESFA will publish the ITT for delivery to non-levy paying employers in the next few days. They have published a video on You Tube on the planned arrangements and implementation (procurement timetable, key points and hints and tips) Link to video is below.

End point assessment service – new website

We have a new website for our end point assessment service. Whether you want to know about all the new Apprenticeship Standards City & Guilds is an apprentice assessment organization for, business models, planning and processes or even become an independent end assessor, you will find the answers in the link below:

<http://www.cityandguilds.com/apprenticeships/emerging-standards/end-assessment-service>

Vacancies at Institute for Apprenticeships

The Institute for Apprenticeships was launched on 01 April 2017 as an employer-led body ensuring high-quality apprenticeship standards and assessment plans in England. It is expected that from April 2018, this remit will expand to include responsibility for technical education in England.

There are 15 employer-led industry route panels and their chairs have been selected. Now they are looking for employers who would like to be part of these route panels helping to ensure the quality of apprenticeships.

The advert for recruiting route panel members is now live on the Public Appointment side of Civil Service Jobs where further information can be found:

<https://publicappointments.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/appointment/route-panel-member-institute-for-apprenticeships/>

Basically the employers in this route panels will decide how to implement government's policy in regards to technical education (full time and Apprenticeships) in their sector and responsible for ensuring quality of delivery.

In a nutshell, if you want to have a say on the technical training delivered in this industry and not being told what to do, I suggest someone from your team if you are an employer or from the employers you work with gets in there.

Deadline for applications: 04 August 2017 at 12:00

Apprenticeship off-the-job training: policy background and examples

This publication provides policy context and some best-practice examples around off-the-job training.

Update on new Apprenticeship standards.

We are working on the development of the Heavy Vehicle Service and Maintenance Technician new Apprenticeship standard and the on programme offer will be live by September 2017 (9302).

The new Motor Vehicle Service and Maintenance (Light Vehicle) Apprenticeship standard is live and our offer available to centres. The registration package number is 9301-01.

Transition from current SASE frameworks to new Apprenticeship standards

Once approved, SASE frameworks and new Apprenticeship standards will be running in parallel so you can choose to deliver whatever is more suitable for your employers' apprentices.

Please note that there may be differences in funding for each framework. You can check the funding for all current SASE frameworks and approved Apprenticeship standards from May 2017 here:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/apprenticeship-funding-bands>

So far only SASE frameworks with no or very low take up have been closed.

In regards to the current Vehicle Maintenance and Repair SASE Apprenticeship frameworks, there is a proposal that they may be closed by 01 April 2018 but this has not been confirmed yet.

Please see announced proposal here:

Transitioning to the New Standards - Webinar Series ▲

How do you transition your apprenticeship delivery from the SASE frameworks to the new standards?

Our occupation-focused webinars are primarily for colleges and providers. They will help you understand the changes as well as prepare for and deliver on-programme learning and end-point assessment. We'll cover maths and English and the sort of learning materials that can help you deliver the new standards.

Each webinar is led by industry experts, supported by technical advisers and members of our EPA Team. You'll have the chance to put your questions to our team.
